SIGHT SEEING NOW

Will be Done by the Christian Endeavorers at Boston.

The Great Convention Closes Tonight--Services Yesterday and the Exercises Today.

BOSTON, July 15.—Tonight the fourteenth international convention of the Y. P. S. C. E, one of the most successful meetings in the history of the society, will close and most of the delegates will devote the rest of the week to sightseeing in Boston and vicinity. The day opened with an overcast sky, but it soon cleared considerably and permitted the warming rays of the sun to temper a rather chilly east wind.

Yesterday visiting clergymen and lay delegates preached and spoke in 110 churches—in Boston, Auburndale, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, South Medford, Natick, Newtonville, Revere, Roslindale, Somerville, Wollaston, Winthrop and Melrose. Of coure, the sermons were of a special character and the congregations were made up of the sixty odd thousand Christian Endeavor delegates, besides the citizens of the places named, who went to hear the visitors. In some of the churches the regular congregations absented themselves in order that the delegates might have plenty of room.

Perhaps the most important sermon of the day was that of Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, Ont., in Trinity church. He alluded at length to the pope's recent letter to the English people, written with the object of uniting the English church with the holy see, and while he found some things in the letter which he could not agree with, he expressed the gratification which he felt at the proof which the letter afforded that there was a widespread and genuine desire to unite all Christians in the fold of Christ.

He said in parst: "The battlecry of liberalism is, 'Religion without dogma and a church without a pale.' It is a popular shout. Creed is one of best hated things in the language. Sectarianism is the phariseeism of the modern church. We rejoice today that there is no provision for it in this theocratic movement. The divine order of the new life is Christ, fellowship, co-operation."

The services of today seem to have a deeper religious feeling than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6:30 and was, in fact, the principal subject of the day. The attendance of all the morning meetings was as large as on any day last week. The addresses of President Geo. A. Gates, D. D., of Iowa college, and President D. Warfield, LL. D., of Easton, Pa., in Tent Williston, were the features of the morning. The former spoke of "The Consecration of an Educated Life," and he was followed by his great audience with close attention. President Warfield's address was on "The Attractions of the Ministry to Educated Men."

At Tent Endeavor an address by Robert E. Speer, of New York, on the missionary service proved a great drawing card. Mr. Speer's great work in missionary fields has made him famous among Christian Endeavorers and thousands were surprised this morning at the youth of this leader. He is not yet thirty years old, but is a veteran in his chosen work. This morning meetings in both tents were conducted under the general title, "The Scholarship of the World for Christ."

At Tent Williston and Mechanic's hall encouraging reports concerning the religious life in colleges were made and in both tents and the hall the roll of honor upon which was inscribed the names of the unions whose membership have been able to give liberally to the cause was simultaneously enrolled. The exercises were accompanied by suitable addresses.

Rev. W. C. Biting, D. D, of New York, conducted the exercise in Mechanics hall; Rev. A. C. Peck of Denver, in Williston, and Rev. Ira Landrith, of Nashville, in Endeavor.

The presentation of a banner to the local union for the best work in promoting systematic and proportionate giving was made at Mechanics building and Tent Williston.

Rev. J. H. Stuckenburg, of Cambridge, Mass., delivered, in Mechanics building, and address on "The Christian Personality" that deserved personal mention, and the same should be said of the addresses by Rev. A. P. Cobb, D. D., of Springfield, Ill., and Rev. Wm. G. Puddlefoot, of South Farmingham, Mass. The praise and song services at the big meetings were as they have been since the opening of the convention full of snap energy and earnestness. The aggregate attendance was about 23,000.

The regular noon evangilistic service attracted crows of workers who joined in the praise with a seriousness that seemed to indicate regret that today was the last of the convention. The largest of these rallies were held at Fanueil hall, where Rev. Francis E. Smiley, of Denver, Colo., led the services, and in Broomfield street church, under the leadership of C. N. Hunt, of Minneapolis. The other gatherings were at the usual stores and street corners.

Speaking of "The Christian Personality," J. S. W. Stuckenburg said: "The epoch of personality means a new era. We have had an enthusiasm for nature, but now we have a passion for humanity. Things have absorbed the attention; now man is the supreme concern. Political economy has discussed riches, national wealth, value and such things, but now Roscher, one of the foremost economists, propounces man himself the beginning and the end of economic science, and Europe and America echo the thought. Colridge affirmed that property is the grand basis of government, but we are far beyond that, and know that men are the grand basis, while property is but an attachment to the personality. On education the great aim has been to teach men something; now the aim is to make them something."

The address of W. G. Puddlefoot on "National Needs and Perils," was one of the most interesting of the meeting. He said: "The record of homicide has risen from 1,467 in 1882 to 9 800 in 1894. In twenty years over 26,000 children had been abandoned by their mothers in New York. He attributed the real cause of so much crime to the scarcity of churches. In thousands of towns, villages and communities, they have no church. Of course," said he, "there are other causes of crime. The rapid growth of the city at the expense of the rural district is one, and it is as true in newer sections as the old, and it works badly both ways. The decayed towns have hard work to keep up the school and church for lack of material, and the children go into the cities, which have as yet no room for thousands of children, growing up with nothing but the street education of the slums. So that today the two points of danger lie on the frontier and in the great cities."

Rev. Wayland Hoyt, of Minneapolis, presided over the meeting in Tent Williston this forenoon. President Wm. R. Harper, L. L. D., of the university of Chicago, was scheduled to preside but was unavoidably absent. The tent was well filled, about 9,000 being present, and much fervor was manifest. After praise and prayer, Franklin D. Elmor, of West Hartford, Conn., reported concerning the work of the college Y. M. C. A. in the institutions of higher learning throughout the country. He said the good done by the organization was incalculable.

The services of today seem to have a deeper religious feeling than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6:30 and was in fact the principal subject of the day. The attendance of all the morning meetings was as large as on any day last week. The addresses of President George A. Gates, D. D., of Iowa college, and President D. Warfield, L. L. President Warfield's address was on "The Attractions of the Ministry to Educated Men."

HORRIBLE DISCOVERY!

Lower Half of a Corpse Found in a Box Which Floated in Mitchell's Bay.

ALGONAC, Mich., July 15.—A box containing part of a human body was found in Mitchell's Bay today, and everything indicates that a murder has been committed. The body had been hewed in two just below the ribs, and the chest, head and arms are missing. The remains were carefully packed and the box securely nailed. There is no way of identifying the body and the case is a complete mystery.

IN DRUNKEN RAGE

A Chicago Saloonkeeper Enacts a Triple Fragedy.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Peter Hazel, a saloonkeeper at Fifty-ninth street and Wabash avenue, in a drunken rage fatally injured his wife and child and himself. Hazel had been drinking heavily and had made frequent threats of taking his life. His wife remonstrated with him today, and becoming furious Hazel seized a butcher knife and throwing Mrs. Hazel upon a table cut her throat from ear to ear. He then turned upon his child, a little girl, and holding her up by the hair hacked her throat and face in a half dozen places, finishing the work by driving the bloody blade into his own neck. The three were dying when help reached them.

Battle Expected.

HONG KONG, July 15.—A force of 7,000 Japanese troops has left Tuatutla to attack the black flags at Tai Wan Fu, Island of Formosa. A battle between the opposing troops is expected to take place on Saturday next, July 20. A strong naval force will cooperate with the land force of the Japanese. Reports received here from the south part of the Island of Formosa show that all is quiet there.

Died From Wounds.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Clarence Barr, the Chinatown guide, who was stabbed by C. B. Henderson, a traveling salesman from Rochester, N. Y., during the course of a row over the payment for drinks in the barroom of the Baldwin house, early Saturday morning, died this morning. Henderson has been charged with murder.

A Soaking Rain.

MIDLAND, Mich., July 15.—A soaking rain visited this section of the state last night, checking the forest fires. The settlers at Hubbard are out of danger for the time being.

BRICE'S NEW ROAD.

Will Buy the Ohio Southern at Receiver's Sale

And Continue it From Lima to Detroit to Parallel the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road.

LIMA, Ohio, July 15.—It is stated here on apparently good authority that Senator Brice is behind a big scheme to buy in the Ohio Southern road from the receiver and build an extension from Lima to Detroit, Mich., to paralell the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, which he failed to secure control of a year ago. The line will only be ten miles longer than the present route. It is understood the right of way through this city was secured this morning.

MOB VIOLENCE AGAIN.

Negro Murderer Taken From Jail and Hanged.

One Hundred Men Take the Law in Their Own Hands, to the Disgrace of Their City.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 15.—Ira Johnson, colored, who killed a young white man named Longford, in a quarrel at Piedmont, a factory town ten mills from here, on the 7th instant, was taken from the county jail at 3 o'clock this morning by a mob of 100 men who carried him outside the city limits, swung him to a tree and riddled his body with bullets. The lynching was accomplished quietly and few citizens knew anything about it until this morning. The crime is greatly deplored in the community, and especially as court convened today and the negro would have been given a speedy trial.

WOMAN COUNSELS A MURDER.

Charged With an Effort to Kill Prosecutor Heard.

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 15.—Mrs. John Reddington was arrested Saturday night on a charge of having attempted to hire men to murder Prosecutor Heard, of Porter and Lake counties. The official has been particularly active in his warfare against evildoers and his name has become a terror to them. The officials claim to have two letters written by Mrs. Reddington to two men in Lake county, where she resides, offering them money to kill Heard, and advising them, if necessary, to accomplish the deed by blowing up his house with dynamite. One of the men confided the contents of the letter to a friend, who in turn informed the officials and they secured the letters. Opinion here is greatly divided, as the woman has a number of friends, but the officials claim to have a sure case.

GIVES BIRTH TO A QUARTET.

Pittsburg Woman Presents Her Husband With Four Children at Once.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin, wife of Hugh Rankin, living at 3929 Liberty avenue, gave birth to four children at one time last evening. The quartet made its appearance about 6 o'clock in the evening. There were three boys and one girl. One of the boys died about 8 o'clock this morning. The other three youngsters are hearty, as is the mother, and are doing well. Three years ago Mrs. Rankin gave birth to an infant, which died, and two years ago she presented her husband with twins. One of the twins died. The quartet born yesterday aggregated twenty pounds in weight. Mr. Rankin is a melter in a steel works and fortunately for him that industry is still booming.

DISTRIBUTES A MILLION BIBLES.

American Bible Society Does Much Work Despite the Hard Times.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The seventy-ninth annual report of the American Bible society has just been published. It shows that while gifts to the society's treasury during the past year have been smaller than could have been desired, yet its widely extended work has been conducted without serious embarrassment. More than 1,500,000 Bibles, Testamen's and integral portions of the scriptures were printed by the society within the period covered by the report, and more than 1,000,000 of these were printed on the presses of the Bible house. The society has distributed more Bibles in China during the year than in any other preceding year since it began work in that country.

IN THE RIVER.

The Dead Body of Patrick Cooney is Found.

CLEVELAND Ohio, July 15.—The dead body of Patrick Cooney, who had been employed as night watchman in the yards of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad company, was found in the river early this morning. The dead man's nose had been crushed in, his front teeth had been knocked out and the body bore other evidence of an assault. It is supposed that Cooney was murdered and thrown into the water last night by a gang of robbers, whom he probably detected in the act of looting cars. No clew to the identity of the murders has been obtained.

Catholic Summer School.

MADISON, Wis., July 15.—The Columbian Catholic summer school is an assured success. The first lecture today at the Fuller Opera house by the Rev. P. J. Denehy, of St. Paul, was attended by four hundred, and it is known as many more will arrive today and tomorrow. Father Denehy gave a brilliant address on the origin and development of the Canon. At the opening of the exercises the approval and blessing of Pope Leo XIII on the school was read.

WILL IMITATE PERRY.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons to Fight on Lake Erie.

Two Immense Ferry Boats, Lashed Together, Accommodating 4,000 People, Will be Used.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 15.—The Ann Arbor railway officials here have assented to a proposition, made by Toledo sporting men, to allow the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fistic encounter to take place on their two big transfer boats used for ferrying loaded trains across Lake Michigan. Each is 260 feet long and sixty feet wide, and the plan is to have the two boats lashed stem to stem and 4 000 people could witness the fight. The Toledo projectors of the scheme are now in communication with the backers of the two athletes.

TWENTY-FIVE WARRANTS

Out for the Men Who Lynched George Rose.

Liquor Crusaders Are the Accused Parties and Liquor Dealers Are the Accusers

EMPORIA, Kas., July 15.—For several weeks detectives have been at work securing evidence against the men who lynched George Rose, at Cottonwood Falls, in May, 1894. There are twenty-five warrants in the hands of the sheriff for prominent people in Cottonwood Falls and Strong City, and arrests will probably be made this afternoon. The trouble grew out of the recent closing of Strong City joints and it is said that the liquor crusaders are the men for whom the warrants are out and that the joints and their friends are behind the work of the detectives. Much excitement prevails in both towns and the best people in Chase county fear serious trouble before the quarrel is settled.

CLAIMS A FORTUNE.

Cleveland Editor After an Estate Valued at a Quarter of a Million.

CLEVELAND, July 15,—Harry Leonard, of this city, editor of the Voice of the People, is a claimant for $250,000, based on a will executed in 1824. He is a West Indian. In 1824 U. B. Frazer, a wealthy planter of Dewerary and Assequeiblo, South America, took a trip to England and made a will. On November 22, of that year, the ship was wrecked and all on board were lost. The will contained a clause, leaving land, now extremely valuable, nine slaves and £8,000 to a son and daughter, named Sara Dorothy, who afterward was married to a man named Belgrane, a wealthy planter. Belgrane died and the woman was again married, this time to a man named Leonard, the father of the claimant. Her next husband was Massiah, a British soldier. Harry Leonard's mother was a child of Frazier, born after his death, and for that reason her name was not included in the will. Leonard's mother had a copy of the will and she left it to her son, who is going to contest it. Most of the money is in the hands of the family of Phillip Codd, in Kensington, England.

ARRESTS IN THE MYERS CASE.

Two Residents of Elwood Charged With Complicity in the Poisoning.

ELWOOD, Ind., July 15.—At 9 o'clock last night A. F. Burnett and Dr. Frank Lytle, of this city, were arrested for complicity in the supposed poisoning of Thomas Myers for his life insurance. Warrants were issued in Hancock county and brought here. Sheriff Starr, of Madison county, could not take the men from Elwood because of a defect in the warrants. As soon as the defect was discovered word was sent to Greenfield. New warrants will be secured at once. Meanwhile the men are held in jail. There is also a warrant out for Mrs. Cox, wife of the doctor who, it is claimed, put Myers out of the way for the insurance money, but she left some time Friday night, going to Franklin, Johnson county. She is wanted to tell what she knows of the case. Her husband is believed to be in Texas.

California Mystery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Governor Budd is endeavoring to unravel the mystery connected with the death of Frank A. Goodall, whose body was found floating in the San Joaquin river near Livingston three years ago and consigned to an unmarked grave at the water's edge. Nothing was known about Godall at the time, but Governor Budd has recently been informed that Goodall resided in Virginia and was superintendent of schools of the town in which he lived. The information was conveyed in a letter from a friend of Goodall's, who believes he was murdered and robbed. The governor will investigate the case.

Pioneer Dead.

FRESNO, Cala., July 15.—Cornelius Yager, one of the most noted of California's pioneers, died here last night. He was born in Kentucky in 1811 and was connected with some of the most prominent families in the state. When an old man he learned that he was one of the heirs to an estate in Germany valued at $50 000 000. The money was left by some relatives and now lies in the bank at Hamburg awaiting settlement.

Sent to Prison.

KEOKUK, Iowa July 15.—In the federal court today Judge Woolson sentenced ex-State Senator E. R Cassatt, the Pella bank wrecker, to nine years in the Anamosa penitentiary.

FIVE HUNDRED TO DIE.

Armenians Resolve to Give Up Their Lives.

The Object is to Arouse Other Nations to the Necessity of Protecting Eastern Christians.

VAN, Aremnia, July 15.—In the city of Van there are 500 young men sworn to give themselves as a sacrifice to Turkish butchery in the hope that the attention of England may be more strongly called to the desperate situation of their people. The Armenians cannot accept any scheme of reform which does not have for its fundamental principles the absolute control of the European powers. Unless Europe controls the reforms there will be a massacre of 20,000 Christians in the city of Van within three months. The Armenians themselves will bring this about rather than be cast adrift by their fellow Christians of the west. There is no language quite adequate to a description of the real condition of Armenia at present. Men are beeten, robbed and murdered, and women are ravished by Kurds and Turkish soldiers. Woe and want and despair and death stalk abroad in the beautiful land that was once a part of the Garden of Eden. The inhabitants of Van are living on the brink of a massacre from day to day.

The Sasun massacre, it would appear, was one of the most carefully planned outrages in history. The evidence of this is circumstantial only, but it is alleged to be none the less conclusive. During the months of June, July and August, preceding the Sasun massacre, the Kurdish chiefs in the country surrounding the Sasun region, and particularly the districts in the southward and southwestward, were apparently unusually busy in gathering up the scattered warriors of their tribes for an invasion of the Sasun region.

In July and August enormous quantities of petroleum were shipped from Erzroum to Moush. This petroleum came originally from Russia to Erzroum, and so great was the quantity brought over the mountain roads that it was a subject of remark to very many persons For a time it looked as if nothing went over the roads between Erzroum and Moush but petroleum Now, it is a fact that Moush does not use a great quantity of petroleum herself, nor do her merchants sell much of it to the surrounding country. In the villages candles of sheep fat oil are used for lights. What Moush wanted with those countless cans of petroleum was a mystery. But the mystery was a mystern no longer after the Sasun massacre, for that petroleum was used to burn the houses of the Sasun villages and to cremate the bodies of the wretched villagers who fell victims to the awful butchery. In burning the houses, the petroleum was thrown upon the woodwork in generous quantities and set on fire, with the result that everything that could burn went up in smoke. In cremating the dead, the bodies were, in many cases, placed between layers of wood and built up into a sort of funeral pile. The entire mass was then saturated with petroleum and set on fire. It is charged that living men were cremated in the same way. But this was a merciful way of putting the unfortunate creatures to death in comparison with the tortures inflicted on many others.

The massing of troops near the Ssun region, and particularly at Moush, was carried on for some time before the beginning of the massacre in order that everything might be in readiness according to the program said to have been carefully made out at Constantinople. Several weeks after the Sasun massacre, it is claimed. orders were sent from the palace at Constantinople for a massacre of the inhabitants of Modikan, a district lying to the south and southeast of Sassoun, but when it was seen that an investigation of the massacre at Sasun was inevitable, the order, it is said, was repealed, and Modikan was not molested, except in the course of prosecution in general in parts of Armenia.

By the transfer from Van to Constantinople of the advance guard of the Armenian revolutionary movement, captured in the village of Tchiboukla, on May 19, the Turkish government has taken a decisive step toward quieting public excitement in the eastern part of the empire. The governor of Van, Pahri Pasha, has, during the week, added several interesting facts to the alleged concession of Harry Williams, the leader of the captured band. According to the governor Williams confessed that the revolutionary party, which sent him to begin the revolution, has 3,000 rifles in Trieste, Austria, which will be shipped to Armenia for the use of the patriots at the earliest opportunity.

An interesting incident of Williams' confession, as made public by Bahri, is the fact that he is not a British subject at all, but is a native of the Caucasus region of Russia, and, strangely enough of the very district in which Bahri himself was born.

Leaving out of consideration entirely the second revolutionary band across the Persian border, it is an undeniable fact that the Armenian situation was neves at a more critical point.

Prompted by Jealousy.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 15.—Prompted by jealousy, Stephen Webb, a colored employe of the Pennsylvania railway, shot Emma Harries, aged twenty, three times early this morning, inflicting mortal wounds. Sergeant Ryan, who heard the shots, hastened to the spot, and was about to arrest Webb, when the latter attempted to shoot himself, but Sergeant Ryan knocked the pistol from his hand. Webb then drew a long knife and cut the sergeant on the side of the head, inflicting a painful but not fatal scalp wound. Ryan, then bleeding profusely from his wound, kept hold of his prisoner, who weighs 220 pounds, and landed him at the station house.

MRS. JACOB L. GOSHORN.

Demise of a Well Known and Estimable Lady.

Mrs. Martha Darker, of Butler Street, Called to Her Reward--George Brossard Dies.

At her home, No. 386 East Washington street, last night at 11:15 o'clock, occurred the death of Mrs. Nancy L. Goshorn, wife of Jacob L. Goshorn, superintendent of the Water Power company on Spy Run. The cause of death was a general breaking down of the system. Mrs. Goshorn was born in Marion county, Ohio, on Feb. 15, 1828. Her maiden name was Hughey. She was married in that county on the 29th day of October, 1850, and five years later, with her husband, came to Fort Wayne, where they have since resided. To the couple were born eight children, only two of whom, Mrs. Sarah S. Crawford and Miss Maggie H., survive. Both reside at the family home, on East Washington street. Mrs. Goshorn has been an invalid for a number of years, but her death last night was hardly expected. She was an excellent Christian woman and a member of the Trinity English Lutheran church. Hosts of sincere friends will mourn her departure. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the church at an hour not yet determined. Rev. Wagenhals will officiate.

BROSSARD.

At his home, 18 West Fifth street, Saturday evening about 5:30 o'clock occurred the death of George Brossard, after an illness of several months. The deceased was born in Hachenbach, on the Rhine, Germany, 1829. He came to this country in 1851, and three years later came to Fort Wayne, where he has since lived. For many years he conducted a blacksmith shop on West Main street. He leaves besides his wife four daughters, viz: Mrs. William Hahn, Mrs. Martiu, Steinberger, Mrs. David Zimmermon and Mrs. Mary Geistdoefer, all living in this city. He hae three brothers, John, of Wells street, this city; William, who is visiting in Germany, and Joseph, of Cincinnati, and one sister, Mrs. Parr, of this city. He was one of the well known members of the Saengerbund, and had many friends and acquaintances in Allen county. He was a member of St. Mary's church, and the funeral will be Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the residence and 9:30 from the church.

DARKER

At her home, on West Butler street, Saturday afternoon, occurred the death of Mrs. Martha H. Darker, from an extended illness, of stomach trouble. She was born September 26, 1832, at Dayton, Ohio. She came to this city at the age of eighteen, and had resided here ever since, a period of forty-five years. Her husband, William Darker, was one of the pioneer engineers on the Wabash road, and met his death at Toledo by the explosion of a locomotive boiler twenty-five years ago. Deceased was the mother of three children, of whom only one survives, George U., of the Bass offices. Besides this son, Mrs. Darker leaves a brother, John Clark, of Ithaca, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. James Humphrey, of this city. Mrs. Darker had long been an invalid, though the nature of her malady was not such as to confine her to the house at all times. She was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, from the house, at 4 o'clock, Rev. Davies officiating.

KAHM.

The thirteen-day-old child of Fred Kahm died yesterday, in Washington township. The funeral was held privately on account of the illness of the mother.

NEW YORK FIRE.

A Steamer Burned to the Water's Edge.

LEWISTON, N. Y., July 15.—A fire occurred here this morning on the steamer Cibola, which was totally destroyed, and in which one man is supposed to have burned to death. Several buildings were also consumed. When the fire threatened the destruction of the town the Cibola was cut loose from the dock and was allowed to drift down the river until she burned to the water's edge. The dock and American hotel barns, all owned by H. G. Cornell, were also destroyed and the flames damaged the plant of the new George Electric company. The loss outside of the steamer is probably not more than $20,000. The steamer was valued at $200,000. She was one of four boats that plied on Lake Ontario, between this port and Toronto, forming a link in the route used by the Canadian Pacific and New York Central. The Cibola was built on the Clyde and was modeled after the fastest English channel steamers. The missing man is supposed to be the engineer, name not yet ascertained.

WAR THREATENED.

Peru and Bolivia Snarling at Each Other.

LIMA, July 15.—The relations of Peru with Bolivia are strained. It was rumored that the minister of Bolivia to Peru is about to retire. The governor of Peru will send 2,000 men to the Bolivian frontier.

EAST SIDE FRACAS.

Dwenger Avenue Furnishes the Police a Small Sensation.

Officer Dixon Chases Charley Pettit and William Mahl and Fires a Revolver Over Their Heads.

There was a lively scrap in the eastern part of the city last evening between 8 and 9 o'clock. It appears that two young men, Charles Pettit, a teamster, and William Mahl, his companion, early in the evening got into an altercation with Mrs. Wm. Farhnen, a neighbor. All the parties interested live on Dwenger avenue, and it is charged by Mrs. Farhnen that the two young men had induced her two small children to fight. When she remonstrated they entered the house and one of them struck her a fearful blow over the eye, severely injuring her. Mr. Farhnen at once came down town to notify the police, and on his way back alone, when just north of the street car barn, he was set upon by the two young men, who were lying in wait for him. Mr. Farhnen was roughly handled, but ran back on Washington street, where he notified Officer Dixon of the assault. The policeman at once started after the two sluggers, but they ran east, giving the officer a hard chase Dixon is a well known sprinter and his ability in this direction came into good play. The boys were chased for a half mile or so and Dixon, in order to scare them, fired a few shots over their heads. He finally outwinded them and sent the prisoners to the station house. Before Justice Huser, acting mayor, both prisoners this morning plead guilty and were fined $1 and costs each. A friend stayed the docket for Pettit but Mahl went to jail.

TWO VAGS.

Yesterday morning, at the east yards, Special Officer Tuchshober arrested Charles Walters and Albert Newman, two young vags. They will be tried this afternoon.

PLAIN DRUNK.

Officer Aikens' prisoner was Fred Legowish, a plain drunk, who paid his fine and did not appear at court.

MORE TO FOLLOW.

The dismissal of night patrolman Vachon, for irregularities while on duty, will, in all likelihood, be followed by other policemen being dismissed from the service. Charges have been lodged against two men and possibly more.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Former Allen County Man Suicides in Kansas.

Monroe Bair, Son of Isaac Bair, of Aboite Township, Kills Himself --No Cause Known.

Saturday afternoon Isaac Bair, a well-to do and prominent Aboite township farmer, received a dispatch from Lane county, Kansas, that his son, Monroe, had suicided and that the remains would arrive in this city Sunday noon. Mr. Bair was greatly shocked and at once notified the other members of the family, two of whom reside in this city and the remainder in the country. The father of the deceased did not know what had caused the son to commit the rash deed. Monroe went to Kansas twelve years ago to farm. He took with him $2 300 and purchased a fine tract of 330 acres of land. He has been quite successful recently selling 700 head of stock from his farm and was thought to have been making money. Monroe was born in Stark county, Ohio, and was thirty-six years of age.

The remains were expected yesterday from the west, but have not yet arrived.

FOOLING THE SUN.

Photography Now No Longer Entirely Dependent Upon Old Sol.

Saturday evening a party of Fort Wayne newspaper men were invited to the photograph gallery of Miner & Dexter, 44 Calhoun street, to witness the first successful attempt to take photographs after night by means of incandescent electric light. The electrical part of the exhibition was under the supervision of Edmunds & Law, the electricians. For a year past Mr. Miner and Mr. Law have been experimenting and they have finally "struck it." Forty incandescent bulbs are arranged in an arched wooden frame and the light thrown upon the subject through a thin gauze, so prepared as to give a light almost exactly like that of the sun. The newspaper men were caught in the camera and in each instance the success was pronounced. An expert cannot tell the difference between a picture taken after night by this process from one taken in the day time

After the exhibition was over the scribes sat down to a dainty banquet prepared by Caterer Seidel. The evening was a most pleasant one for the guests, all of whom were greatly interested in the invention.

NEW MONEY ORDER BLANKS.

Are in the Form of a Bank Draft and of a Sea Green Color.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Requisitions for money order blanks received at the postoffice department will be filled from this time on with the new blanks designed some time ago. It will not be many weeks before the public will become well acquainted with the new design, and it is safe to say that it will in all probability prove a popular change. The new blanks are in the form of a bank draft The text is lithographed and the ink used is a sea green shade. The effect is artistic and pleasing, and altogether the form and general appearance of the new blank is such as to make the recipient feel more than ever as if he had a good thing. The old scheme of notched numerals at the left end of the blank is retained, as it has proved a great convenience in business and a safeguard against fraud. The dollars and cents are also printed on the reverse side, so that with a nice register in the press work both sides of the bit of paper will show the precise amount of the order.

SAM. KUNTZ DROWNED.

Sad Accident Occurs at Blue Lake Sunday Evening.

Thought to Have Been Sun Struck While Standing in His Boat Fishing--Body Recovered.

Samuel Kuntz, agent for the Toledo Brewing company, and residing with his wife and two children at No. 550 South Calhoun street, was drowned in Blue lake, about 5 o'clock last evening.

Kuntz was one of a party of six Fort Wayne men who yesterday morning went over to Blue lake to fish, riding in a delivery wagon owned by the deceased. In the party was John Minnich, the barber; Robert Cran, foreman at the Bass foundry; Xavier Hammerle, a saloonkeeper on West Main street; Joseph Schnee, a South Calhoun street saloonkeeper, and Erb Kay, who worked for Kuntz.

The party arrived at the lake early in the morning and fished in boats until noon. They had a case of beer with them but drank only nine bottles. At noon when the lunch was eaten Kuntz complained of feeling ill to Mr. Schnee, and declined an invitation to drink, saying that beer did not agree with him that day.

In the afternoon all the party went out in boats to fish excepting Kay, who stayed on the shore to look after the horses. Schnee and Hammerle anchored their skiff in the east end of the lake and Minnich and Cran, in one boat, and Kuntz, alone, in another, went about three quarters of a mile west, where they anchored about fifty feet from shore and began fishing. The boat occupied by Minnich and Cran was located about fifteen feet from that in which Kuntz was seated.

About 5 o'clock Kuntz was observed to be landing a large sized fish. It was quite gamey and he stood up in the boat in order to better handle his rod. After handling the fish for about ten minutes the occupants of the other boat noticed that the fish had unhooked itself. At the same moment Kuntz, who was still standing, was seen to topple over and fall sideways from the boat, headfirst into the water. He never came up. At this point the water was about twelve feet deep and the grass and weeds came to within a few feet of the surface. Minnich and Cran at once rowed up to the spot where the man went down, but saw no traces of him. They then rowed to the boat house, where hooks were procured, and, after an hour's search, the body was recovered in exactly the same spot in which the man had gone down.

The body was bent and rigid and the arms drawn downward. It is the general supposition that Kuntz was either sun struck or taken with a fainting spell, which caused him to fall into the water. Some weeks ago he had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs and yesterday when he went to the lake was not at all well. Members of the party think he was dead when he struck the water, as he made no effort to save himself, but sank like a stone.

Kuntz was an excellent swimmer and has been known to swim a mile. He was twenty-nine years old and leaves, besides a wife and two small children, a widowed mother, a brother, Philip, of Chicago, and two sisters.

The body was taken to the boat house at Tom McGuire's and the coroner of Whitley county notified.

The remains have not yet arrived from Churubusco.

A BIG COMPANY

To Be Organized Here With $100,000 Capital.

They Will Manufacture Apparatus for Supplying Suburban Residences With Water--H. H. Barcus.

Tomorrow, papers will be filed with the county recorder organizing a big company, having capital to the extent of $100,000. The new concern will erect a factory and begin the manufacture of apparatus for supplying private residences with water; or, in other words, waterworks on a small scale for private homes in the country or suburban residents too far from the city water supply to be accessible to the city's pipes. A large number of men will be employed. Mr. Charles Pape is one of the leading promoters in the enterprise.

BACK TO HIS OLD STAND.

Today H. H. Barcus, the well-known confectioner, purchased for $2,000 the stock of goods formerly owned by J. H. Meyers, at 95 Calhoun street. This is the old stand where Mr. Barcus sold out two years ago to move further south on Calhoun street. He will, for the time, continue the store on the corner of Brackenridge street as a branch establishment.

Our Common Schools.

A prominent feature in a parade given at Boston last Friday, as mentioned in the telegraph columns of THE SENTINEL, was the Little Red schoolhouse. The free, the common, the public school, which is one of the distinguishing features of the United States as a country, is altogether too great an institution to belong to anything less than the country, and the people of this great nation will always foster, protect and advance it because it has been the means of educating the masses and placing America in the front as a nation in which general education is the distinguishing feature of our people.

The common school is one of several good ideas which took root very early in the history of our country. It was brought here from several countries which furnished settlers to the new world. It began on our soil with the beginnings of civil society, and like most good, sensible, practical ideas, it has "grown up with the country." The first clear outlines of the common school as we know it were seen in New England, but the great Middle states adopted it and as the "star of empire" took its way westward to the Pacific the common school "went along." The great western states each as they entered the union were presented by the general government with a magnificent landed endowment for the common schools, a rule that prevails to this day in regard to admitted states.

The common school has been a great success. For a hundred years and more it has known nothing but triumph. It 'fits" our country, its government, its institutions, its laws as the viewless air fits the round earth. It is, like the government and the people, republican; it is an exposition of the doctrine of human equality; the children of rich and poor stand alike; the bell rings in the morning and school "takes up," and until the evening when the children go home they have lived in a little miniature United States of America.

Under the circumstances it will be seen that the common school does not belong to any church, or sect, or political party, nor society, nor "lodge." It belongs to the whole people of the United States, who maintain it and who will keep it going forever and ever. Practically there is nobody in this country against the common school. The native American looks to the common school as the place where he will get his education as his father and mother before him did theirs, and as his children will after him.

The common school has the seat of its supremacy, not in laws and enactments and customs only, but in millions of human hearts. The school house at the cross-roads, on the hill or by the stream, always humble and unobtrusive, considering the part it plays, the work it does in the world, is looked back to by millions of men and women with feelings for which any words form inadequate expression. Beneath that lowly roof was found that priceless gift, an education, when there was no other door open. There were found the beginnings of wisdom; the spring of ambition; perchance the dawn of love, the very first inspirations of life. In the minds of a countless number as they look back to it the humble walls of the school house rise and spread and stretch away into those of a mighty temple. That is what the common school is to Americans, native and adopted, and they will see that it remains just where it is, the pride and hope of the country, every body's school, the school for the masses, the rich and poor alike.

Elections in Thirteen States.

Though this is supposed to be an "off year," politically, there will be elections in thirteen states, namely: Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Mississippi and Massachusetts. The Connecticut election for town officers and to pass upon the question of redistricting the state senate will be held October 7, and regular state elections will be held four weeks later—November 5—in the twelve other states named.

In Maryland a governor and an attorney general will be elected to serve four years, a comptroller to serve two years, all the members of the lower house of the general assembly, and fourteen senators. A state's attorney and sheriff will be elected in each county. A United States senator to succeed Senator Gibson will be chosen in Maryland next winter.

In Virginia all the members of the house of delegates and twenty (or one-half) of the state senate will be elected. The senators chosen this year will participate in the election of a successor to Senator Daniel.

Pennsylvania will choose a state treasurer for a term of three years and seven judges of the supreme court for ten years.

New Jersey will elect a governor for a term of three years, seven state senators for the same term, and an entire assembly of sixty members.

New York's state ticket will contain a secretary of state, comptroller, treasurer, attorney general and a state engineer for terms of three years each, a judge of the court of appeals for a term of fourteen years, twelve judges of the supreme court for terms of fourteen years and fifty senators to serve three years and 150 assemblymen to serve one year each. The senators chosen in November will participate in electing a successor to Senator Hill.

In Ohio there will be elected a governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer and attorney general to serve two years, an auditor to serve four years, a judge of the supreme court to serve five years and a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Brice.

A full state ticket to serve for four years will be voted for in Kentucky, as well as a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Blackburn.

The Kansas people will vote for a chief justice of the supreme court to serve one year.

The voters of Iowa will select a full state ticket to serve two years and a legislature that will elect Senator Allison's successor.

A justice of the supreme court to serve six years and two regents of the state university will be chosen in Nebraska.

A full state ticket to serve four years, all the officers in the various counties and a legislature that will elect the successor to Senator George will be chosen in Mississippi.

A full state ticket to serve one year will be voted for in Massachusetts.

A BIG BLAZE.

The Loss Said to be About $4,000—A Number of Minor Casualties in and About the City.

The saw mill plant situated about 200 yards nortwest of the city pumping station and along the Lake Shore tracks was totally destroyed by fire last Saturday evening. The mill was the property of Messrs. John Draker and H. M. McCracken and consisted of a substantial frame structure, a boiler and engine and other machinery usually found in a well equipped circular saw mill. The whole was estimated at $4,000, and with the exception of the boiler, is a total wreck. There was no insurance on building or machinery. Gus Franke and George Iba, of the pumping station, were the first to see the fire and they turned in the alarm. Owing to the dry weather and the inflammable condition of the mill building, the fire spread so rapidly that the entire structure was completely enveloped in flames when the department reached the scene, and their efforts to save the building were fruitless. The firemen worked bravely, however, and confined the fire to very narrow limits and the valuable lumber piles to the north and east of the burning building were not harmed in the least. Mr. Draker is the owner of another mill west of the city, and he will transfer the logs which are now in the yards at the burned mill and saw them into lumber. The mill will probably be rebuilt.

LEG BROKEN.

Yesterday afternoon, while Amil Schoeges, of No. 393 East Washington street, was watching the baloon ascension at Centlivre park, he accidentally slipped and fell on his left leg, causing a serious fracture. The injured man is quite advanced in years, but Dr. Duemling thinks the fracture will soon heal.

CUT HER FOREHEAD.

A little girl named Aurentz, living at the corner of Lafayette street and Creighton avenue, fell this morning while playing about the sidewalk and cut a deep gash in her forehead. Dr. J. E. Miller attended.

A VICIOUS DOG

Edward J. Klingman, of 373 Lafayette street, was badly chewed about the leg by a vicious dog, near his home Dr. Miller sewed up the wound and cauterized it. The dog will be shot.

The ten-year-old son of Granville Powell, of No. 305 West Main street, fell from a horse yesterday and had his right arm broken in two places by the horse stepping upon it. Dr. Geo. C. Stemen attended.

MOVE AGAINST MR. QUAY.

His Opponents Make a Proposition That He Shall Retire.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—An important move in the fight against Senator Quay in Pennsylvania developed today. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Waters came out with a proposition to have Quay retire from the contest for chairman of the state committee, provided the present chairman, B. F. Gilkeson, will do so. Then a third man, probably Waters himself, would be chosen. Should this plan work it would be a great defeat for Quay, as he is the aggressor in this contest. The anti Quay forces are not so particular whether Gilkeson or some neutral man is chairman, but they won't have Quay. The senator must know that he is badly beaten and could not be elected at the convention on August 28, else his close friends would not come out now for a compromise. If Quay is defeated for chairman it will break forever his leadership in this state, which he has held for nearly twenty years. It will also mean the sure retirement, a year hence, of United States Senator Cameron, who is a free silver populist.

STABBED BY A TRAMP.

Vagabond in Pennsylvania Attempts to Kill His Benefactor.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 15.—Charles C. Keetley, a railroad man, is at the hospital with four knife wounds in his breast and back. Keetley received them from a man whose life he saved. Early yesterday morning Keetley found a stranger asleep on the bumpers of a freight train at Thompson station on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad. The train had stopped for an obstruction. The slightest jar would have thrown the stranger under the wheels. With difficulty Keetley pulled the man off into the ditch beside the track. A few minutes later the stranger, who resented Keetley's merciful act, stole behind his benefactor and three times plunged a knife into his back and once in his breast. He left Keetley for dead. Any one of the fou wounds may prove fatal. Keetley's assailant is thought to be a tramp.

There was a large crowd at Lake Everett yesterday, fully 200 persons being on the grounds. There was a misunderstanding as to the bath house being opened as it was not yet up. This morning eight carpenters were sent over and will begin at once to build a large bathing house, which will be ready next Sunday. A new set of sheds, arranged in the form of a square will also be built for the accommodation of horses.

Ex-Congressman Byran, of Nebraska, will speak in this city on the silver question on Wednesday evening.

SHERMAN NOT A CANDIDATE.

Senator Says He is Too Old to Take the Presidency.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, July 15.—Senator John Sherman was seen at his residence and his views asked on presidential politics. He said he was not a candidate, and added: "If all the people of the United States should join together and offer it to me I would not accept the position. I am too old. No man of seventy two has the right to undertake the work and responsibility which come to the chief executive of the United States It is a position of wear and tear and it should have a younger man."

Passengers Land.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Ward line steamer City of Washington arrived this morning from Tampico and Havana bringing sixty-four cabin passengers. Owing to lack of certificates, thirty-eight of these passengers including eighteen Chinamen and nine shipwrecked seamen of the bark Thomas Brooks were transferred to Hoffman Island until tomorrow afternoon when they will be allowed to proceed to the city. The remaining twenty-six passengers being provided with certificates from Dr. Burgess, at Havana, were allowed to proceed with the steamer to her dock.

Secretary Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.—Secretary Carlisle and his son, Logan, who have just returned from London, where he assisted in the completion and delivery to the Rothschilds of $13,000,000 of the recent bond issue, reached Washington last night and were at their desks in the treasury department today. The secretary has spent the last two weeks as the guest of Secretary Hamlin at Marion, Mass.

Took His Own Life.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Chas. A. Kimball, a broker, sixty one years old, committed suicide in his room in the hotel Empire today by turning on the gas.

The Soldiers', Sons' and Citizens' club has passed appropriate resolutions upon the death of the late S. W. Stark, who was treasurer and an active member of that organization.

OUR SHIPBUILDING.

An Increase Over 1894 of Eleven Thousand Tons In Steam and Sailing Vessels.

The bureau of navigation has received preliminary returns showing that 682 steam and sailing vessels of 132,719 gross tons were built and documented in the United States during the last fiscal year, compared with 776 steam and sailing vessels of 121,547 tons during 1894, an increase of 11,000 tons.

Final and revised returns will somewhat increase the figures by the addition of barges, etc. Steam vessels numbered 283, of 75,728 gross tons; sailing vessels, 399, of 56,990 tons, a decrease of 8,000 tons steam, an increase of 19,000 tons sail compared with 1894.

Construction on the Atlantic and gulf coasts comprised 442 vessels of 79,520 tons, compared with 562 vessels of 68,478 tons for 1894. Construction on the great lakes comprised 93 vessels of 38,016 tons compared with 89 vessels of 40,372 tons. Among notable additions of the year to the merchant fleet are the steamers St. Louis, Northland and Newport News.

Steel construction comprised 86 vessels of 47,696 tons compared with 35 vessels of 50,736 tons in 1894.

The number of American vessels thus far officially reported as lost during the year comprised 85 steam vessels and 276 sailing vessels, barges, etc.

Among the notable American marine disasters of the year are the recent foundering of the steamship Colima; the loss of the steamship Keweenaw, reported missing with 31 lives on the Pacific; the stranding of the steamships Cienfuegos and Czama, and the loss of the steamship Chicora on Lake Michigan.

REV. JOSIAH ADAMS BELIEVES ANIMALS HAVE SOUL LIFE.

He Has Founded a School of Biophilism. John Burroughs and Eugene Field Interested—The Objects and Work of the Society.

Biophilism is the name given to a new study or cult, which has for its chief object the study of animal psychology. The founder of the new cult is the Rev. Charles Josiah Adams, rector of the Church of the Holy Spirit at Rondout, and he has asociated with him an executive committee, consisting of Eugene Field, the poet; John Burroughs, the naturalist and essayist; Eugene Glass, editor of The Dog Fancier, and Henry Abbey of Kingston, the writer.

According to Mr. Adams' definition, his word biophilism comes from the Greek word bios, life, and philein, to love, and it means the love of life—life in all of its forms—from the highest to the lowest. The biophilist is the one who gives every creature full credit for what there is in it—who would save the meanest creature pain and make it happy—who would mete out to all creatures immortality if he could—who, consequently, hopes for the immortality of the sentient universe.

The objects of the bureau of biophilism are set forth thus in its circular:

First.—To collect evidences that the lower animals may possess at least a showing of the same faculties that man possesses.

Second.—To circulate as widely as possible such evidences.

Third.—To awaken in the minds of as many people as can be reached the questions:

May not the lower animals be immortal?

May not the entire sentient universe be immortal?

What argument goes to prove man's immortality which does not go to prove the immortality of other sentient beings?

Fourth.—In the hope that the higher animal through such considerations may become somewhat more kindly in his treatment of the lower animal.

The bureau will attempt the attainment of these objects:

First.—Through observation and research.

Second.—Through the correspondence of its members and patrons.

Third.—Through publications.

Fourth.—Through lectures and symposiums.

In the matter of belief in the mental and moral attributes in the lower animals the other members of the executive committee do not go as far as Mr. Adams. They are, however, in sympathy with him in his idea of studying animals and his belief that, as understanding of household beasts becomes more general, cruelty, whether intentional or thoughtless, toward them will decrease. It is on this broad basis that the bureau will proceed with its work. Primarily the effort will be to collect from various sources evidence of reasoning power in animals, and from time to time this evidence will be published and circulated. Mr. Adams has published one book on the subject which has had a large circulation. It is called "Where Is My Dog?" and discusses broadly the question of the immortality of other animals than man. It was this book that attracted Eugene Field's attention, and he wrote to Mr. Adams as follows:

To the Rev. C. J. Adams:

SIR—I have read with tender interest your book entitled, "Where Is My Dog?" and I want to ask you whether you ever found the fox terrier you lost just before you wrote that book? I have a fox terrier, Jessie, and I have spent a great deal of money in "rewards" for her, for she has been "lost" a good many times. She has a soul. I am sending you herewith a little tale I recently printed in The News-Record. It may please you. I hope so. I really feel under deep obligations to you for your true, forceful words in behalf of man's best friend—the dog. Sincerely yours,

EUGENE FIELD.

Later, when the bureau of biophilism was formed, Mr. Field gladly consented to act on the executive committee. Although Mr. Adams is a firm believer in the theory that animals have souls, he does not hold that belief to be a part of biophilism.

"What we want to do," he said to a reporter who called on him, "is to establish a general cult having for its object interest in animals. I am in hearty sympathy with the work of the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They do a great and beneficent work. There are many men whom you must reach by the policeman's club. This is the work of that society. It is our intent to supplement that work by reaching by the advancement of knowledge many people who are susceptible to that kind of influence. The great mass of people are unkind toward animals because they have no realization that they are dealing with sentient beings.

"I myself believe that the lower animals possess to some degree every faculty that man possesses, and that the germs of these faculties are coexistent with the life germ. The higher we get the greater is the development until we finally come to man, the highest animal. To bring the highest animal into sympathy with the lower animals is the work before us."

Since Mr. Adams first owned a dog—and he has since owned many—he has been interested in animal psychology and has made a particular study of dogs. He has been very unfortunate in his dogs, having lost a number through stealing and poisoning. The dog attracts Mr. Adams not because he believes that dogs are the most intelligent animals, but because they are the most faithful and affectionate.

"A monkey is probably as intelligent as any other animal, if not more so," said Mr. Adams, "but the trouble with a monkey as a pet is that he is too monkeyish. His instinct is for mischief and sometimes for malevolence. Cats are very intelligent, too, but they care only for localities, not for persons, and they are faithful only to their own love of ease. Now, a dog will stick to you through thick and thin, the truest, stanchest, most changeless friend a man can have. That's why I love dogs."—New York Sun.

Hill Makes a Guess.

Senator Hill is said to have made a guess concerning the next Republican presidential nomination. He looks upon Allison as the probable man, for the reason that the Iowa man is not an extremist on either the tariff or silver questions, is conservative on all other matters of public import and comes from a section which the Republicans must carry in order to win the presidency.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Man'f by THE LYON MEDICINE CO. INDIANAPOLIS IND.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

A Prominent Railroader's Remarks.

TERRE HAUTE, May 1, 1894.

Lyon Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.:

DEAR SIRS—I wish to speak a kind word for LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. During an attack of la grippe, from which I suffered greatly with stomach trouble, loss of appetite and general bad feelings, I was induced by a friend, who said it would remove all these troubles, to try your remedy. I admit I did not have much faith in them, but tried a box, and one box made me feel like a new man and did all my friend claimed they would. I believe them to be a long felt want in the medicine line.

Yours very truly,

J. W. CASKEY,
Conductor Vandalia Line.

A Great Responsibility.

The office boy was whistling "Sweet Marie" in a high key and with much energy.

"Did it ever occur to you," asked the boss, "what a responsibility you were assuming when you whistled that way?"

"Me?" said the boy.

"Certainly. Here you go to whistling that infernal tune. Some one hears it and unconsciously joins in. Two or three more hear him and they do likewise, and the thing spreads till the whole town from one end to the other is Sweet Marieing for dear life. You hadn't thought of that, had you?"

The office boy did not answer, but it was plain that the talk had made an impression on his mind, for ten minutes later he was heard to tell the elevator boy that "de ole man was gittin nutty, and dat ain't no lie, neither!"—Indianapolis Journal.

A RAILROAD MAP.

State Tax Board Having One Made.

A Novel Suit, Interesting Scalpers, Railway Companies and the Public—Local Gossip.

The state tax board is preparing an official railroad map of the state for public use It has all the roads marked in colored lines which are easily traced, and the railroads can be followed and located without trouble. A different color marks each road and the systems are plainly seen at a glance. Indiana has never had an official railroad map of this kind, and in this respect it is behind other states. George U. Bingham, of the auditor's office, is preparing the draft for the map.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

At a business meeting of the German Lutheran Trinity congregation yesterday, bids were opened for the erection of two buildings, one a parsonage and the other a house for the principal of the school, to be located on the church property at the corner of St. Mary's avenue and Hoffman streets. Franke & Rodenbeck were the lowest bidders and were awarded the contract. Their bid was $2,888 for both buildings.

AUTOMATIC COUPLERS.

An exchange states that besides the extra cost of the automatic couplers and of keeping them in repair, there is a material difference in the power required to pull a train of the old style link and pin coupler and those of a later invention. A link and pin coupler gives about a six-inch slack to a car. In moving a long train this gives an engine quite a start, and has helped more than one engine up a steep grade with a heavy train. Automatic couplers give a train the little slack which is in the box, and with some rigging, there is no slack even there. This makes it possible for an engine to move a train only on a dead pull. On roads where automatic couplers are used extensively the number of automatic couplers in a train is taken into consideration in deciding how many cars to put in it.

SUIT TO RECOVER TICKET MONEY.

Fort Wayne patrons of ticket brokers will be greatly interested in a suit brought by Arthur J. Morton, a Findlay ticket broker, who has commenced suit to determine whether a railroad company can legally confiscate a mileage ticket without refunding the money it represents. He purchased a 1,000 mile ticket on the Lake Erie and Western railroad for $20, which was taken up by the conductor after 288 miles had been used, on the ground that he was not the party to whom it was issued. Mr. Morton sues the company for $14 28, the value of the remaining mileage, and claims the ticket was issued to him although in a fictitious name. The outcome is being awaited with interest.

BRIEF MENTION.

John Burett is again working in the foundry department of the electric works.

John Druhot, moulder at the Bass works, will go to Blue lake tomorrow to camp out for a week.

This week the Wabash steam shovel plow will commence operations in the gravel pit west of Peru.

The first Niagara Falls excursion of the year will be run from Cincinnati, Ohio, July 18, over the Erie.

Mrs. Chartier and son, Ed., of Valparaiso, are visiting Engineer and Mrs Henry Blair, of East Howell street.

John McVey, night foreman at the Nickel Plate yards, has been promoted to the position of conductor on the road.

The Pennsylvania will spend $50,000 in fitting up as a pleasure resort a grove near Thompson station, on the Monongahela river.

William Palmer, who was suffering last week with malarial fever, was able to resume work in the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

The heirs of Frederick Schultz, a Panhandle engineer who was killed at Logansport June 9, have brought suit for $10,000 against the company.

The Huntington Democrat says: "Miss Lena Foster, of the superintendent's office, is entertaining as her guest Miss Stella Noll, of Fort Wayne."

Grant Smith, who was night yardmaster of the Wabash at Tilton for some time, has been transferred to Peru, where he will work in the yards also.

The child of Nelson Crawford, of the electric works, is now past the danger point and is expected to rapidly improve. The little one has been ill a month.

A freight blockade has taken place at Pittsburg and the lines entering that city have given notice that perishable freight will not be received for that point for a few days.

The Peru Chronicle says: "John Knepper, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of William Hacker last night while on his way home from Springfield, Ill., where he has been attending college."

Chester Durnell, Pittsburg engineer, is sick and off duty.

W. A. Donlin, of the electric works, is sick and off duty.

Casper Limecooley, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is sick.

Machinist Louis R. Bookwalter, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

Charles Porter, of the Wabash freight office, spent Sunday with his parents in Peru.

W. S. Smith has been transferred from the cinder pit to the boiler department of the Wabash shops.

C. S. Knight, of the electric works, arrived home last night. He had been west on business for the company.

R. A. Houghton, roadmaster of the Wabash, was here today on business for the company. He resides in Defiance.

E. J. Hawthorne came home last evening, after a sojourn of some days in the east in the interest of the electric works.

William Zutermeister, of the electric works, has gone to Richmond, Ind., to attend the funeral of one of the children of his brother.

T. Z. Babcock, engineer at the electric works, has returned from Pierceton, where he spent a few days with relatives and friends.

Charles Pape, of the Fleming Manufacturing company, has returned from Niagara Falls, where he spent two or three days very pleasantly.

Valentine Workman, of the electric works, is off duty. Saturday afternoon one of his hands was lacerated in a lathe which he was operating.

Mr. Hickock, of the electric works, came home Saturday, after being engaged several days at Barnesville, Pa., in the interest of the company.

Miss Kittie Girard, who was sick a portion of last week, resumed her duties in the electric light offices this morning. She is a stenographer.

S. Bostick, messenger in Supt. G. L. Potter's office, is enjoying his annual vacation, and Marshall Humphrey, an apprentice in the machine shop, is acting as messenger.

J. Neiber, a carpenter in the east car shops, went to Cincinnati today to attend the funeral of a relative. News of the death was conveyed to him through a telegram this morning.

J. Didier, a car builder in the east car shops, had the misfortune to crush his right hand last Saturday afternoon and is off duty. Dr. George C. Stemen dressed the wounded member.

Amos Kress, of the Standard Wheel works, who was injured last Friday, as mentioned in these columns, is not able to walk yet, though he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

This morning Engineer John Carroll left for Andrews with engines 204, 338 and 138, they having recently been repaired and repainted. The former engine was steamed up and hauled the other two.

Thomas Mills is today celebrating the eighteenth anniversary of his signing the Murphy temperance pledge. He has faithfully kept that pledge and regards it as one of the most important events in his life.

F. J. Miller has been appointed general passenger agent of the Pullman Palace Car company, vice Mr. Gray, deceased. Mr. Miller has been the assistant general passenger agent of the company for the last five years.

Calls for cars to load with wheat for Toledo and other lake points are becoming more numerous and are taken by freight men as evidence that, despite the talk of a very light crop, there will be considerable wheat to ship.

After an illness of two weeks, Fireman E. H. White resumed his duties on Wabash switch engine 267 this morning and Fireman O. A. Harmes returned to Andrews to resume his position in the through freight service.

Emanuel's congregation has secured ground for church purposes at the corner of Broadway and Scott avenue, and will soon commence the erection of a parsonage thereon. Later they will erect a church building on the same lot.

Machinist Philip J. Singleton, of 27 Baker street, is a temporary cripple. Last Saturday a heavy wrench dropped from the running boards of an engine and alighted upon Mr. Singleton's left foot, bruising the member most painfully.

Bert Byers, who manipulates the throttle of a switch engine in the Pennsylvania yards in Chicago, spent Sunday in this city with his brother-in-law, Engineer J. A. Keplinger. Mr. Byers will return to Chicago on No. 9 tonight.

William Henry Tigar, chief dispatcher of the Pennsylvania company at this point and a member of the auditing committee of the Voluntary Relief department, went to Cleveland this morning on business connected with the relief.

Conductor Ben Stonecifer, of the Muncie road, has been down at Cambridge City several days, attending the funeral of his father. The sad circumstances surrounding the elder Stonecifer's death were chronicled last week.

A lively but harmless runaway occurred on Broadway at 9 o'clock this morning, the team being the grays that draw one of the Standard Oil company's wagons. They ran from Taylor street to Creighton avenue, where they were stopped.

W. S. Lipsett, who for some years has had charge of a local freight train between Fort Wayne and Lima, is lying dangerously ill at his home in the latter place. Conductor T. Mulcahey has charge of the local during the illness of Mr. Lipsett.

Ernest W. Dartnell, a clerk in the shop clerk's department of the Pennsylvania works, has returned from England, where he spent two or three months with his parents. The old people reside in Croyden, a city about twenty miles from London.

The Panhandle company will increase its yard capacity at Pittsburg by occupying with tracks a large piece of ground which has been occupied for years by coal yards. M. B. Cushing, engineer of maintenance of way has been placed in charge of the work.

The Logansport Daily Pharos says: "The Wabash is equipping all its freight cars with steps and irons on top to aid the men in climbing up, according to the new law. Quite a large number of the new irons have been sent down here from the Fort Wayne shops."

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, which laid off 15 per cent. of its employes in its operating department during the panic, has ordered a large number of the men re employed and if business continues to improve will have its entire force at work again within thirty days.

George H. Judy writes his sons here that he is getting along nicely in his new position at Dayton, that of foreman of the blacksmith shops of the Barney & Smith company. Mrs. Judy, who has been in Altoona, Pa., for some weeks, will return here next Wednesday and soon after will remove to Dayton.

The Sunday train to Rome City is quite popular with our people and a money-maker for the Grand Rapids company. Yesterday the train pulled out of this city with its two coaches crowded to their full capacity. If the business increases, and it promises to do so, more coaches will have to be provided.

A rumor is in circulation that a syndicate for the manufacture of bicycles is to be organized. The Studebaker Brothers, of South Bend, are said to be at the head of the movement and the works will be located in that city. It is proposed to build a wheel that will answer all ordinary purposes and which can be retailed at $30.

Garrett, a small town on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad a few miles west of Auburn, on the Detroit line, is making an endeavor to have the Wabash extend a line from Ashley, on the Chicago extension, to their place and the people have asked the Chicago board of trade to assist them. The line, if built, would be about fifteen miles in length and would have to cross the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern.

Frank Kierspe, a machinist, has taken a position in the Bass works, beginning work this morning. He is a son of the well known machinist at the Wabash shops, Charles F. Kierspe, and served an apprenticeship in the Wabash shops. Three years ago Frank went east and until recently he was employed in a machine shop in Waterbury, Conn. He returns here with the intention of making this his future home.

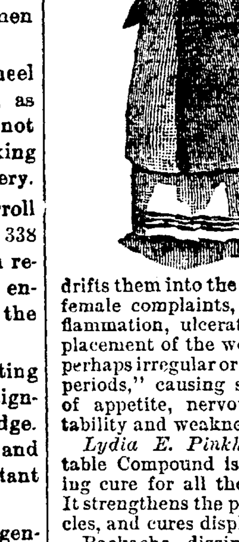

C. W. Meek, the telegraph operator at the west Nickel Plate depot in this city, was in Kosciusko county last week spending his vacation and while there spent a few days fishing at the lakes for which that county is famous. It is well known that they are the best fishing places in this section of the state, but the stories that "Charley" tells of his catches are simply incredulous and but very few of his friends believe them. At Barbee lake, in two hours one morning, he says, he caught 200 pounds of bass, one of the fish being two feet in length. Charley is one of the finest operators on the road, but as a fisherman, his friends say, he is no good at all. With a reputation like this, his fish stories don't go.

SIX O'CLOCK.

WEARY WOMEN WATCH FOR THAT BLESSED HOUR.

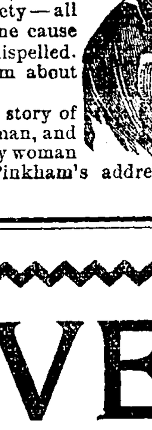

Help for our Working-Girls and Women Near at Hand.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

IN the stroke of six ends the day's work at stores, offices, factories, mills, where women are employed. But their necessary work at home, sewing, mending, etc., must be done after that time, and "their work is never done."

All women work; some for ambition, some for economy in the household, but the great mass of women work for their daily bread. All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbances, and the nature of their duties often quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhœa, and perhaps irregular or suppressed "monthly periods," causing severe backache, loss of appetite, nervousness, irritability and weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for all these troubles. It strengthens the proper muscles, and cures displacement.

Backache, dizziness, fainting, bearing-down, disordered stomach, moodiness, dislike of friends and society—all symptoms of the one cause—will be quickly dispelled. Write Mrs. Pinkham about your trouble.

You can tell the story of your pain to a woman, and get the help that only woman can give. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Looking Up Testimony.

"Well, what kind of a breakfast did you have?" inquired a slightly shabby looking individual, taking a seat in front of the hotel and addressing a commercial traveler.

"Worst layout I ever struck on my whole route. Horrible spread to dish up to a hungry man."

"The steaks would have half soled a pair of kip boots?"

"You bet! Why, the coffee was so transparent I could see samples of the cook's hair curled up in the bottom of the cup."

"And you couldn't tell the difference between the butter and the sweet oil?"

"No, and the bread was the worst case of sour mash I ever saw in my life."

"And the baked potatoes were just warmed through and as solid as a dornick?"

"Yes, and they tried to palm off three different dishes of yesterday's cold soup for a new species of hash."

"And the roast looked like a piece of charcoal?"

"Bet your life! And the batter cakes were nothing less than raw dough."

"And the waiters were saucy and indifferent?"

"Yes; one of 'em picked up a chair and offered to hit me with it if I called for any more iced tea. I'd like to see the landlord of this ranch. I'd just like to see him as a curiosity. He must be the orneriest cuss in 14 states."

"Well, I've been thinking some of rejuvenating this establishment for quite awhile, and, being the landlord, I'm taking a quiet stroll in and out among the guests getting their views. I always like to strike a live, radical kicker, like yourself, because then I get in all the important testimony for the prosecution and know just where to begin with my reconstruction. Just stop here on your way back, and you'll find different arrangements."—Texas Siftings.

Logical.

Jerry—Gracious, Jessie, you'll fall off that stepladder and break your neck. Why don't you have Bridget hang the curtains?

Jessie—Because if I hurt myself you will foot the bills, but if she gets hurt I will have to pay the expense out of the house money.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FATAL WRECK IN OHIO.

Cincinnati Man Caught Under the Debris of Fourteen Cars.

WHITE SULPHUR Ohio, July 15.—At 11:30 yesterday a bad wreck occurred on the Big Four, resulting in the destruction of fourteen cars of whisky, feed, tobacco and candies, the loss amounting to $75,000. Dick Hurley, a molder, of Cincinnati, was killed. The cause of the accident was the burning of a journal, the car leaving the track after it had plowed the earth for a mile. A number of tramps are supposed to be under the debris. Work trains from Springfield and Delaware are removing the wreckage.

RAIN IN MICHIGAN.

NEWS NOTES.

There is a new case of scarlet fever at No. 25 Lieth street.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doenges, of Grant street, a son.

Ed Ross, steward at the Randall, is in St. Louis on a short trip.

W. B. Wright, of Connorsville, was a guest of the Randall yesterday.

Clem Noll and Clyde Turner are enjoying a two weeks' outing at Pleasant Lake.

Martin Detzer, the Calhoun street druggist, went to Detroit, Mich., this morning.

Dr. Sturgis, who was last week so seriously ill, is very much better today and able to be up.

Don Hayden was down from Rome City over Sunday. He will return tomorrow on his wheel.

Miss Ida Fairfield, of No. 7 Belle avenue, is the guest of Mrs. Page Blackburn, at Decatur.

Complaint is made that Poundmaster Brown allows cows to run at large in Lakeside and other suburbs.

The barbers of the city will meet this evening at the City Y. M. C. A. hall for the purpose of organizing a new union.

Mrs. George E. Johnson is now comfortably domiciled in the house at No. 8 Fulton street, having recently moved there from Main street.

A great many people yesterday afternoon witnessed the balloon ascension at Centlivre's park made by Lady Florence. The ascension was quite a success and the descent in the parachute was made without accident, the aeronaut landing safely north of the park.

Editor Geiger, of the Churubusco Truth, has signed Collars and Heit, the Fort Wayne ball players, to play with the 'Busco nine the entire season. They play Columbia City next Thursday and a close and exciting game is anticipated. Quite a number of the Fort Wayne people will witness the game.

A genuine surprise was the appearance of D. F. More, ex general secretary of the railroad department Y. M. C. A., at the men's meeting yesterday afternoon. The meeting was rich in reminiscence of the early days of the association. After a spirited song service in charge of Hiram A. Philley, assisted by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Benjamin Saunders, Ed. D. Eggeman, Charles J. Fry, Herchel Mauk and Alfred Trythall, Mr. More gave a most interesting address, followed by Messrs. A. H. Polhamus, E S. Philley, William Myers, A. D. Craig, Dr. Smith, J. R. Medsker, Amos Sine and Phil Titus.

On account of the death by drowning of Samuel Kuntz, who was a member of the Fort Wayne Mutual Benefit association, the entertainment and social which was to be given on Wednesday evening next by that organization, will be postponed for three weeks, or until Wednesday evening, Aug 7. The regular meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, the 17th, to take appropriate action on the deceased. The association pays a $50 death benefit. All arrangements had been made for the entertainment and many tickets sold. These will be good on the later date.

Mrs. Celia Fisher, who has been at Los Angeles, Cal., for some time, writes to friends here that her health has been greatly benefitted by the genial climate of the Pacific coast and that she is able to pursue her musical studies uninterruptedly. On the Fourth of July Los Angeles celebrated Independence day in a grand way, the city being crowded with people from the various towns and the country around. The exercises during the day at the pavillion were largely attended. Mrs. Fisher participated in the musical program and all of the Los Angeles papers were complimentary in their mention of her. The Los Angeles Express says: 'Captain Cressey then introduced Mrs Celia Fisher, who, in a little esthetic gown of white silk, the American flag in her hand, sang with charming effect, "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs Fisher has a voice of peculiar sweetness and easily filled the great hall, her clear, pure notes reaching the galleries with their patriotic fervor. The audience and the band joined in the chorus and the dear old hymn thrilled all with its beauty."

Miss Luella C. Boles, who was a delegate from the Epworth League of the Wayne street M E church to the international convention of the Epworth League, at Chattanooga, Tenn., made her report of the convention at the meeting of the league last night. It gave an account in an abbreviated form of all the most interesting and important proceedings of the convention, reviewing the principal and most interesting thoughts of the greatest speeches made and the leading events of the gathering, which was the largest religious meeting ever held in the south. Her description of the sunrise prayer meeting held on top of Lookout mountain was most graphic and gave her hearers a good idea of the scene and the religious enthusiasm characterizing it. Indeed, her report of the convention and its work gave those who attended the meeting and heard it a splendid idea of the whole convention, which was in session for four days. Miss Boles is a fluent and entertaining writer and her report showed careful preparation and evidenced the fact that she had made herself most familiar with and had listened attentively to almost the entire proceedings of the convention. The reading of her report occupied twenty-five minutes and she held her large audience interested until its close. When she finished, Miss Louisa Driftmeyer, who presided at the meeting, spoke in warm terms of praise of the excellency of the report and at her suggestion the league voted Miss Boles its thanks.

SIGHT SEEING NOW

Will be Done by the Christian Endeavorers at Boston.

The Great Convention Closes Tonight---Services Yesterday and the Exercises Today.

BOSTON, July 15.—Tonight the fourteenth international convention of the Y. P. S. C. E., one of the most successful meetings in the history of the society, will close and most of the delegates will devote the rest of the week to sightseeing in Boston and vicinity. The day opened with an overcast sky, but it soon cleared considerably and permitted the warming rays of the sun to temper a rather chilly east wind.

Yesterday visiting clergymen and lay-delegates preached and spoke in 110 churches—in Boston, Auburndale, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, South Medford, Natick, Newtonville, Revere, Roslindale, Somerville, Wollaston, Winthrop and Melrose. Of coure, the sermons were of a special character and the congregations were made up of the sixty odd thousand Christian Endeavor delegates, besides the citizens of the places named, who went to hear the visitors. In some of the churches the regular congregations absented themselves in order that the delegates might have plenty of room.

Perhaps the most important sermon of the day was that of Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, Ont., in Trinity church. He alluded at length to the pope's recent letter to the English people, written with the object of uniting the English church with the holy sea, and while he found some things in the letter which he could not agree with, he expressed the gratification which he felt at the proof which the letter afforded that there was a widespread and genuine desire to unite all Christians in the fold of Christ.

He said in parst: "The battlecry of liberalism is, 'Religion without dogma and a church without a pale.' It is a popular shout. Creed is one of best hated things in the language. Sectarianism is the pharisseism of the modern church. We rejoice today that there is no provision for it in this theocratic movement. The divine order of the new life is Christ, fellowship, co operation."

The services of today seem to have a deeper religious feeling than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6:30 and was, in fact, the principal subject of the day. The attendance of all the morning meetings was as large as on any day last week. The addresses of President Geo. A. Gates, D. D., of Iowa college, and President D. Warfield, LL. D, of Easton, Pa, in Tent Williston, were the features of the morning. The former spoke of the "The Consecration of an Educated Life," and he was followed by his great audience with close attention. President Warfield's address was on "The Attractions of the Ministry to Educated Men."

At Tent Endeavor an address by Robert E. Speer, of New York, on the missionary service proved a great drawing card. Mr. Speer's great work in missionary fields has made him famous among Christian Endeavorers and thousands were surprised this morning at the youth of this leader. He is not yet thirty years old, but is a veteran in his chosen work. This morning meetings in both tents were conducted under the general title, "The Scholarship of the World for Christ."

At Tent Williston and Mechanic's hall encouraging reports concerning the religious life in colleges were made and in both tents and the hall the roll of honor upon which was inscribed the names of the unions whose membership have been able to give liberally to the cause was simultaneously enrolled. The exercises were accompanied by suitable addresses.

Rev. W. C. Biting, D. D, of New York, conducted the exercise in Mechanics hall; Rev. A. C. Peck of Denver, in Williston, and Rev. Ira Landrith, of Nashville, in Endeavor.

The presentation of a banner to the local union for the best work in promoting systematic and proportionate giving was made at Mechanics building and Tent Williston.

Rev. J. H. Stuckenburg, of Cambridge, Mass., delivered, in Mechanics building, and address on "The Christian Personality" that deserved personal mention, and the same should be said of the addresses by Rev A. P. Cobb, D. D., of Springfield, Ill., and Rev. Wm. G. Puddlefoot, of South Farmingham, Mass. The praise and song services at the big meetings were as they have been since the opening of the convention full of snap energy and earnestness. The aggregate attendance was about 23,000.

The regular noon evangilistic service attracted crows of workers who joined in the praise with a seriousness that seemed to indicate regret that today was the last of the convention. The largest of these rallies were held at Faneuil hall, where Rev. Francis E. Smiley, of Denver, Colo, led the services, and in Broomfield street church, under the leadership of C. N. Hunt, of Minneapolis. The other gatherings were at the usual stores and street corners.

Speaking of "The Christian Personality," J. S. W. Stuckenburg said: "The epoch of personality means a new era. We have had an enthusiasm for nature, but now we have a passion for humanity Things have absorbed the attention; now man is the supreme concern. Political economy has discussed riches, national wealth, value and such things, but now Roscher, one of the foremost economists, pronounces man himself the beginning and the end of economic science, and Europe and America echo the thought. Coleridge affirmed that property is the grand basis of government, but we are far beyond that, and know that men are the grand basis, while property is but an attachment to the personality. On education the great aim has been to teach men something; now the aim is to make them something."

The address of W. G. Puddlefoot on "National Needs and Perils," was one of the most interesting of the meeting. He said: "The record of homicide has risen from 1,467 in 1882 to 9 800 in 1894. In twenty years over 26,000 children had been abandoned by their mothers in New York. He attributed the real cause of so much crime to the scarcity of churches. In thousands of towns, villages and communities, they have no church. Of course," said he, "there are other causes of crime. The rapid growth of the city at the expense of the rural district is one, and it is as true in newer sections as the old, and it works badly both ways. The decayed towns have hard work to keep up the school and church for lack of material, and the children go into the cities, which have as yet no room for thousands of children, growing up with nothing but the street education of the slums. So that today the two points of danger lie on the frontier and in the great cities."

Rev. Wayland Hoyt, of Minneapolis, presided over the meeting in Tent Williston this forenoon. President Wm. R. Harper, L. L. D., of the university of Chicago, was scheduled to preside but was unavoidably absent. The tent was well filled, about 9,000 being present, and much fervor was manifest. After praise and prayer, Franklin D. Elmor, of West Hartford, Conn., reported concerning the work of the college Y. M. C. A. in the institutions of higher learning throughout the country. He said the good done by the organization was incalculable.

The services of today seem to have a deeper religious feeling than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6.30 and was in fact the principal subject of the day. HORRIBLE DISCOVERY!

Lower Half of a Corpse Found in a Box Which Floated in Mitchell's Bay.

ALGONAC, Mich., July 15.—A box containing part of a human body was found in Mitchell's Bay today, and everything indicates that a murder has been committed. The body had been hewed in two just below the ribs, and the chest, head and arms are missing. The remains were carefully packed and the box securely nailed. There is no way of identifying the body and the case is a complete mystery.

IN DRUNKEN RAGE

A Chicago Saloonkeeper Enacts a Triple Tragedy.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Peter Hazel, a saloonkeeper at Fifty-ninth street and Wabash avenue, in a drunken rage fatally injured his wife and child and himself. Hazel had been drinking heavily and had made frequent threats of taking his life. His wife remonstrated with him today, and becoming furious Hazel seized a butcher knife and throwing Mrs. Hazel upon a table cut her throat from ear to ear. He then turned upon his child, a little girl, and holding her up by the hair hacked her throat and face in a half dozen places, finishing the work by driving the bloody blade into his own neck. The three were dying when help reached them.

Battle Expected.

HONG KONG, July 15.—A force of 7,000 Japanese troops has left Tuatutia to attack the black flags at Tai Wan Fu, Island of Formosa. A battle between the opposing troops is expected to take place on Saturday next, July 20. A strong naval force will cooperate with the land force of the Japanese. Reports received here from the south part of the Island of Formosa show that all is quiet there.

Died From Wounds.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Clarence Barr, the Chinatown guide, who was stabbed by C. B. Henderson, a traveling salesman from Rochester, N. Y., during the course of a row over the payment for drinks in the barroom of the Baldwin house, early Saturday morning, died this morning. Henderson has been charged with murder.

A Soaking Rain.

MIDLAND, Mich, July 15.—A soaking rain visited this section of the state last night, checking the prevalent fires. The settlers at Hubbard lare out of danger for the time being.

BRICE'S NEW ROAD.

And Continue it From Lima to Detroit to Parallel the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road.

LIMA, Ohio, July 15.—It is stated here on apparently good authority that Senator Brice is behind a big scheme to buy in the Ohio Southern road from the receiver and build an extension from Lima to Detroit, Mich, to parallel the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, which he failed to secure control of a year ago. The line will only be ten miles longer than the present route. It is understood the right of way through this city was secured this morning.

MOB VIOLENCE AGAIN.

Negro Murderer Taken From Jail and Hanged.

One Hundred Men Take the Law in Their Own Hands, to the Disgrace of Their City.

GREENVILLE, S C., July 15.—Ira Johnson, colored, who killed a young white man named Longford, in a quarrel at Piedmont, a factory town ten mills from here, on the 7th instant, was taken from the county jail at 3 o'clock this morning by a mob of 100 men who carried him outside the city limits, swung him to a tree and riddled his body with bullets. The lynching was accomplished quietly and few citizens knew anything about it until this morning. The crime is greatly deplored in the community, and especially as court convened today and the negro would have been given a speedy trial.

WOMAN COUNSELS A MURDER.

Charged With an Effort to Kill Prosecutor Heard.

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 15.—Mrs. John Reddington was arrested Saturday night on a charge of having attempted to hire men to murder Prosecutor Heard, of Porter and Lake counties. The official has been particularly active in his warfare against evildoers and his name has become a terror to them. The officials claim to have two letters written by Mrs. Reddington to two men in Lake county, where she resides, offering them money to kill Heard, and advising them, if necessary, to accomplish the deed by blowing up his house with dynamite. One of the men confided the contents of the letter to a friend, who in turn informed the officials and they secured the letters. Opinion here is greatly divided, as the woman has a number of friends, but the officials claim to have a sure case.

GIVES BIRTH TO A QUARTET.

Pittsburg Woman Presents Her Husband With Four Children at Once.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin, wife of Hugh Rankin, living at 3929 Liberty avenue, gave birth to four children at one time last evening. The quartet made its appearance about 6 o'clock in the evening. There were three boys and one girl. One of the boys died about 8 o'clock this morning. The other three youngsters are hearty, as is the mother, and are doing well. Three years ago Mrs. Rankin gave birth to an infant, which died, and two years ago she presented her husband with twins. One of the twins died. The quartet born yesterday aggregated twenty pounds in weight. Mr. Rankin is a melter in a steel works and fortunately for him that industry is still booming.

DISTRIBUTES A MILLION BIBLES.

American Bible Society Does Much Work Despite the Hard Times.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The seventy-ninth annual report of the American Bible society has just been published. It shows that while gifts to the society's treasury during the past year have been smaller than could have been desired, yet its widely extended work has been conducted without serious embarrassment. More than 1,500,000 Bibles, Testamen's and integral portions of the scriptures were printed by the society within the period covered by the report, and more than 1,000,000 of these were printed on the presses of the Bible house. The society has distributed more Bibles in China during the year than in any other preceding year since it began work in that country.

IN THE RIVER.

The Dead Body of Patrick Cooney is Found.

CLEVELAND Ohio, July 15.—The dead body of Patrick Cooney, who had been employed as night watchman in the yards of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad company, was found in the river early this morning. The dead man's nose had been crushed in, his front teeth had been knocked out and the body bore other evidence of an assault. It is supposed that Cooney was murdered and thrown into the water last night by a gang of robbers, whom he probably detected in the act of looting cars. No clew to the identity of the murders has been obtained.

Catholic Summer School.

MADISON, Wis., July 15.—The Columbian Catholic summer school is an assured success. The first lecture today at the Fuller Opera house by the Rev. P. J. Deneby, of St. Paul, was attended by four hundred, and it is known as many more will arrive today and tomorrow. Father Denehy gave a brilliant address on the origin and development of the Canon. At the opening of the exercises the approval and blessing of Pope Leo XIII on the school was read.

WILL IMITATE PERRY.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons to Fight on Lake Erie.

Two Immense Ferry Boats, Lashed Together, Accommodating 4,000 People, Will be Used.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 15.—The Ann Arbor railway officials here have assented to a proposition, made by Toledo sporting men, to allow the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fistic encounter to take place on their two big transfer boats used for ferrying loaded trains across Lake Michigan. Each is 260 feet long and sixty feet wide, and the plan is to have the two boats lashed stem to stem and 4 000 people could witness the fight. The Toledo projectors of the scheme are now in communication with the backers of the two athletes

Out for the Men Who Lynched George Rose.

Liquor Crusaders Are the Accused Parties and Liquor Dealers Are the Accusers

EMPORIA, Kas, July 15.—For several weeks detectives have been at work securing evidence against the men who lynched George Rose, at Cottonwood Falls, in May, 1894. There are twenty-five warrants in the hands of the sheriff for prominent people in Cottonwood Falls and Strong City, and arrests will probably be made this afternoon. The trouble grew out of the recent closing of Strong City joints and it is said that the liquor crusaders are the men for whom the warrants are out and that the joints and their friends are behind the work of the detectives. Much excitement prevails in both towns and the best people in Chase county fear serious trouble before the quarrel is settled.

CLAIMS A FORTUNE.

Cleveland Editor After an Estate Valued at a Quarter of a Million.

CLEVELAND, July 15,—Harry Leonard, of this city, editor of the Voice of the People, is a claimant for $250,000, based on a will executed in 1824. He is a West Indian. In 1824 U. B. Frazer, a wealthy planter of Dewerary and Assequeibo, South America, took a trip to England and made a will. On November 22, of that year, the ship was wrecked and all on board were lost. The will contained a clause, leaving land, now extremely valuable, nine slaves and £3,000 to a son and daughter, named Sara Dorothy, who afterward was married to a man named Belgrane, a wealthy planter. Belgrane died and the woman was again married, this time to a man named Leonard, the father of the claimant. Her next husband was Massiah, a British soldier. Harry Leonard's mother was a child of Frazier, born after his death, and for that reason her name was not included in the will. Leonard's mother had a copy of the will and she left it to her son, who is going to contest it. Most of the money is in the hands of the family of Phillip Codd, in Kensington, England.

ARRESTS IN THE MYERS CASE.

Two Residents of Elwood Charged With Complicity in the Poisoning.

ELWOOD, Ind., July 15.—At 9 o'clock last night A. F. Burnett and Dr. Frank Lytle, of this city, were arrested for complicity in the supposed poisoning of Thomas Myers for his life insurance. Warrants were issued in Hancock county and brought here. Sheriff Starr, of Madison county, could not take the men from Elwood because of a defect in the warrants. As soon as the defect was discovered word was sent to Greenfield. New warrants will be secured at once. Meanwhile the men are held in jail. There is also a warrant out for Mrs. Cox, wife of the doctor who, it is claimed, put Myers out of the way for the insurance money, but she left some time Friday night, going to Franklin, Johnson county. She is wanted to tell what she knows of the case. Her husband is believed to be in Texas.

California Mystery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Governor Budd is endeavoring to unravel the mystery connected with the death of Frank A. Goodall, whose body was found floating in the San Joaquin river near Livingston three years ago and consigned to an unmarked grave at the water's edge. Nothing was known about Godall at the time, but Governor Budd has recently been informed that Goodall resided in Virginia and was superintendent of schools of the town in which he lived. The information was conveyed in a letter from a friend of Goodall's, who believes he was murdered and robbed. The governor will investigate the case.

Pioneer Dead.

FRESNO, Cala., July 15.—Cornelius Yager, one of the most noted of California's pioneers, died here last night. He was born in Kentucky in 1811 and was connected with some of the most prominent families in the state. When an old man he learned that he was one of the heirs to an estate in Germany valued at $50 000 000. The money was left by some relatives and now lies in the bank at Hamburg awaiting settlement.

Sent to Prison.

KEOKUK, Iowa July 15.—In the federal court today Judge Woolson sentenced ex-State Senator E. R Cassatt, the Pella bank wrecker, to nine years in the Anamosa penitentiary.

FIVE HUNDRED TO DIE.

Armenians Resolve to Give Up Their Lives.

The Object is to Arouse Other Nations to the Necessity of Protecting Eastern Christians.

VAN, Aremnia, July 15.—In the city of Van there are 500 young men sworn to give themselves as a sacrifice to Turkish butchery in the hope that the attention of England may be more strongly called to the desperate situation of their people. The Armenians cannot accept any scheme of reform which does not have for its fundamental principles the absolute control of the European powers. Unless Europe controls the reforms there will be a massacre of 20,000 Christians in the city of Van within three months. The Armenians themselves will bring this about rather than be cast adrift by their fellow Christians of the west. There is no language quite adequate to a description of the real condition of Armenia at present. Men are beaten, robbed and murdered, and women are ravished by Kurds and Turkish soldiers. Woe and want and despair and death stalk abroad in the beautiful land that was once a part of the Garden of Eden. The inhabitants of Van are living on the brink of a massacre from day to day.

The Sasun massacre, it would appear, was one of the most carefully planned outrages in history. The evidence of this is circumstantial only, but it is alleged to be none the less conclusive. During the months of June, July and August, preceding the Sasun massacre, the Kurdish chiefs in the country surrounding the Sasun region, and particularly the districts in the southward and southwestward, were apparently unusually busy in gathering up the scattered warriors of their tribes for an invasion of the Sasun region.

In July and August enormous quantities of petroleum were shipped from Erzoum to Moush. This petroleum came originally from Russia to Erzroum, and so great was the quantity brought over the mountain roads that it was a subject of remark to very many persons. For a time it looked as if nothing went over the roads between Erzroum and Moush but petroleum. Now, it is a fact that Moush does not use a great quantity of petroleum herself, nor do her merchants sell much of it to the surrounding country. In the villages candles of sheep fat oil are used for lights. What Moush wanted with those countless cans of petroleum was a mystery. But the mystery was a mystery no longer after the Sasun massacre, for that petroleum was used to burn the houses of the Sasun villages and to cremate the bodies of the wretched villagers who fell victims to the awful butchery. In burning the houses, the petroleum was thrown upon the woodwork in generous quantities and set on fire, with the result that everything that could burn went up in smoke. In cremating the dead, the bodies were, in many cases, placed between layers of wood and built up into a sort of funeral pile. The entire mass was then saturated with petroleum and set on fire. It is charged that living men were cremated in the same way. But this was a merciful way of putting the unfortunate creatures to death in comparison with the tortures inflicted on many others.

The massing of troops near the Sasun region, and particularly at Moush, was carried on for some time before the beginning of the massacre in order that everything might be in readiness according to the program said to have been carefully made out at Constantinople. Several weeks after the Sasun massacre, it is claimed, orders were sent from the palace at Constantinople for a massacre of the inhabitants of Modikan, a district lying to the south and southeast of Sassoun, but when it was seen that an investigation of the massacre at Sasun was inevitable, the order, it is said, was repealed, and Modikan was not molested, except in the course of prosecution in general in parts of Armenia.

By the transfer from Van to Constantinople of the advance guard of the Armenian revolutionary movement, captured in the village of Tchibouklia, on May 19, the Turkish government has taken a decisive step toward quieting public excitement in the eastern part of the empire. The governor of Van, Pahri Pasha, has, during the week, added several interesting facts to the alleged concession of Harry Williams, the leader of the captured band. According to the governor Williams confessed that the revolutionary party, which sent him to begin the revolution, has 3,000 rifles in Trieste, Austria, which will be shipped to Armenia for the use of the patriots at the earliest opportunity."

An interesting incident of Williams' confession, as made public by Bahri, is the fact that he is not a British subject at all, but is a native of the Caucasus region of Russia, and, strangely enough of the very district in which Bahri himself was born.

Leaving out of consideration entirely the second revolutionary band across the Persian border, it is an undeniable fact that the Armenian situation was never at a more critical point

Prompted by Jealousy.

BALTIMORE, Md, July 15.—Prompted by jealousy, Stephen Webb, a colored employe of the Pennsylvania railway, shot Emma Harries, aged twenty, three times early this morning, inflicting mortal wounds. Sergeant Ryan, who heard the shots, hastened to the spot, and was about to arrest Webb, when the latter attempted to shoot himself, but Sergeant Ryan knocked the pistol from his hand. Webb then drew a long knife and cut the sergeant on the side of the head, inflicting a painful but not fatal scalp wound. Ryan, then bleeding profusely from his wound, kept hold of his prisoner, who weighs 220 pounds, and landed him at the station house.

MRS. JACOB L. GOSHORN.

Demise of a Well Known and Estimable Lady.

Mrs. Martha Darker, of Butler Street, Called to Her Reward---George Brossard Dies.

At her home, No. 386 East Washington street, last night at 11 15 o'clock, occurred the death of Mrs Nancy L. Goshorn, wife of Jacob L Goshorn, superintendent of the Water Power company on Spy Run. The cause of death was a general breaking down of the system. Mrs Goshorn was born in Marion county Ohio, on Feb 15, 1828. Her maiden name was Hughey. She was married in that county on the 29th day of October, 1850, and five years later, with her husband, came to Fort Wayne, where they have since resided. To the couple were born eight children, only two of whom, Mrs. Sarah S. Crawford and Miss Maggie H., survive. Both reside at the family home, on East Washington street. Mrs. Goshorn has been an invalid for a number of years, but her death last night was hardly expected. She was an excellent Christian woman and a member of the Trinity English Lutheran church. Hosts of sincere friends will mourn her departure. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the church at an hour not yet determined. Rev. Wagenhals will officiate.

BROSSARD.

At his home, 18 West Fifth street, Saturday evening about 5.30 o'clock occurred the death of George Brossard, after an illness of several months. The deceased was born in Hachenbach, on the Rhine, Germany, 1829. He came to this country in 1851, and three years later came to Fort Wayne, where he has since lived. For many years he conducted a blacksmith shop on West Main street. He leaves besides his wife four daughters, viz. Mrs. William Hahn, Mrs Martin, Steinberger, Mrs. David Zimmermon and Mrs. Mary Geistdoefer, all living in this city. He has three brothers, John, of Wells street, this city, William, who is visiting in Germany, and Joseph, of Cincinnati, and one sister, Mrs. Parr, of this city. He was one of the well known members of the Saengerbund, and had many friends and acquaintances in Allen county. He was a member of St. Mary's church, and the funeral will be Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the residence and 9.30 from the church.

DARKER

At her home, on West Butler street, Saturday afternoon, occurred the death of Mrs. Martha H. Darker, from an extended illness, of stomach trouble. She was born September 26, 1832, at Dayton, Ohio. She came to this city at the age of eighteen, and had resided here ever since, a period of forty-five years. Her husband, William Darker, was one of the pioneer engineers on the Wabash road, and met his death at Toledo by the explosion of a locomotive boiler twenty five years ago. Deceased was the mother of three children, of whom only one survives, George U., of the Bass offices. Besides this son, Mrs. Darker leaves a brother, John Clark, of Ithaca, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. James Humphrey, of this city. Mrs. Darker had long been an invalid, though the nature of her malady was not such as to confine her to the house at all times. She was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, from the house, at 4 o'clock, Rev. Davies officiating.

KAHN.

The thirteen-day-old child of Fred Kahn died yesterday, in Washington township. The funeral was held privately on account of the illness of the mother.

NEW YORK FIRE.

A Steamer Burned to the Water's Edge.

LEWISTON, N. Y., July 15.—A fire occurred here this morning on the steamer Cibola, which was totally destroyed, and in which one man is supposed to have burned to death. Several buildings were also consumed. When the fire threatened the destruction of the town the Cibola was cut loose from the dock and was allowed to drift down the river until she burned to the water's edge. The dock and American hotel barns, all owned by H. G. Cornell, were also destroyed and the flames damaged the plant of the new George Electric company. The loss outside of the steamer is probably not more than $20,000. The steamer was valued at $200 000. She was one of four boats that plied on Lake Ontario, between this port and Toronto, forming a link in the route used by the Canadian Pacific and New York Central. The Cibola was built on the Clyde and was modeled after the fastest English channel steamers. The missing man is supposed to be the engineer, name not yet ascertained.

WAR THREATENED.

Peru and Bolivia Squabbling at Each Other.

LIMA, July 15.—The relations of Peru with Bolivia are strained. It was rumored that the minister of Bolivia to Peru is about to retire. The governor of Peru will send 2,000 men to the Bolivian frontier.

EAST SIDE FRACAS.

Dwenger Avenue Furnishes the Police a Small Sensation.

Officer Dixon Chases Charley Pettit and William Mahl and Fires a Revolver Over Their Heads.

There was a lively scrap in the eastern part of the city last evening between 8 and 9 o'clock. It appears that two young men, Charles Pettit, a teamster, and William Mahl, his companion, early in the evening got into an altercation with Mrs Wm. Farhnen, a neighbor. All the parties interested live on Dwenger avenue, and it is charged by Mrs Farhnen that the two young men had induced her two small children to fight. When she remonstrated they entered the house and one of them struck her a fearful blow over the eye, severely injuring her. Mr Farhnen at once came down town to notify the police, and on his way back alone, when just north of the street car barn, he was set upon by the two young men, who were lying in wait for him. Mr. Farhnen was roughly handled, but ran back on Washington street, where he notified Officer Dixon of the assault. The policeman at once started after the two sluggers, but they ran east, giving the officer a hard chase. Dixon is a well known sprinter and his ability in this direction came into good play. The boys were chased for a half mile or so and Dixon, in order to scare them, fired a few shots over their heads. He finally outwinded them and sent the prisoners to the station house. Before Justice Huser, acting mayor, both prisoners this morning plead guilty and were fined $1 and costs each. A friend stayed the docket for Pettit but Mahl went to jail.

TWO YAGS

Yesterday morning, at the east yards, Special Officer Tuchshober arrested Charles Walters and Albert Newman, two young vags. They will be tried this afternoon.

PLAIN DRUNK

Officer Aikens' prisoner was Fred Legowish, a plain drunk, who paid his fine and did not appear at court.

MORE TO FOLLOW.

The dismissal of night patrolman Vachon, for irregularities while on duty, will, in all likelihood, be followed by other policemen being dismissed from the service. Charges have been lodged against two men and possibly more

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Former Allen County Man Suicides in Kansas.

Monroe Bair, Son of Isaac Bair, of Aboite Township, Kills Himself ---No Cause Known.

Saturday afternoon Isaac Bair, a well-to do and prominent Aboite township farmer, received a dispatch from Lane county, Kansas, that his son, Monroe, had suicided and that the remains would arrive in this city Sunday noon. Mr. Bair was greatly shocked and at once notified the other members of the family, two of whom reside in this city and the remainder in the country. The father of the deceased did not know what had caused the son to commit the rash deed. Monroe went to Kansas twelve years ago to farm. He took with him $2 300 and purchased a fine tract of 330 acres of land. He has been quite successful recently selling 700 head of stock from his farm and was thought to have been making money. Monroe was born in Stark county, Ohio, and was thirty six years of age.

The remains were expected yesterday from the west, but have not yet arrived.

FOOLING THE SUN.

Photography Now No Longer Entirely Dependent Upon Old Sol.

Saturday evening a party of Fort Wayne newspaper men were invited to the photograph gallery of Miner & Dexter, 44 Calhoun street, to witness the first successful attempt to take photographs after night by means of incandescent electric light. The electrical part of the exhibition was under the supervision of Edmunds & Law, the electricians. For a year past Mr. Miner and Mr. Law have been experimenting and they have finally "struck it." Forty incandescent bulbs are arranged in an arched wooden frame and the light thrown upon the subject through a thin gauze, so prepared as to give a light almost exactly like that of the sun. The newspaper men were caught in the camera and in each instance the success was pronounced. An expert cannot tell the difference between a picture taken after night by this process from one taken in the day time.

After the exhibition was over the scribes sat down to a dainty banquet prepared by Caterer Seidel. The evening was a most pleasant one for the guests, all of whom were greatly interested in the invention.

NEW MONEY ORDER BLANKS.

Are in the Form of a Bank Draft and of a Sea Green Color.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Requisitions for money order blanks received at the postoffice department will be filled from this time on with the new blanks designed some time ago. It will not be many weeks before the public will become well acquainted with the new design, and it is safe to say that it will in all probability prove a popular change. The new blanks are in the form of a bank draft. The text is lithographed and the ink used is a sea green shade. The effect is artistic and pleasing, and altogether the form and general appearance of the new blank is such as to make the recipient feel more than ever as if he had a good thing. The old scheme of notched numerals at the left end of the blank is retained, as it has proved a great convenience in business and a safeguard against fraud. The dollars and cents are also printed on the reverse side, so that with a nice register in the press work both sides of the bit of paper will show the precise amount of the order.

SAM. KUNTZ DROWNED.

Sad Accident Occurs at Blue Lake Sunday Evening.

Thought to Have Been Sun Struck While Standing in His Boat Fishing---Body Recovered.

Samuel Kuntz, agent for the Toledo Brewing company, and residing with his wife and two children at No 550 South Calhoun street, was drowned in Blue lake, about 5 o'clock last evening.

Kuntz was one of a party of six Fort Wayne men who yesterday morning went over to Blue lake to fish, riding in a delivery wagon owned by the deceased. In the party was John Minnich, the barber, Robert Cran, foreman at the Bass foundry, Xavier Hammerle, a saloonkeeper on West Main street; Joseph Schnee, a South Calhoun street saloonkeeper, and Erb Kay, who worked for Kuntz.

The party arrived at the lake early in the morning and fished in boats until noon. They had a case of beer with them but drank only nine bottles. At noon when the lunch was eaten Kuntz complained of feeling ill to Mr. Schnee, and declined an invitation to drink, saying that beer did not agree with him that day.

In the afternoon all the party went out in boats to fish excepting Kay, who stayed on the shore to look after the horses. Schnee and Hummerle anchored their skiff in the east end of the lake and Minnich and Cran, in one boat, and Kuntz, alone, in another, went about three quarters of a mile west, where they anchored about fifty feet from shore and began fishing. The boat occupied by Minnich and Cran was located about fifteen feet from that in which Kuntz was seated.

About 5 o'clock Kuntz was observed to be landing a large sized fish. It was quite gamey and he stood up in the boat in order to better handle his rod. After handling the fish for about ten minutes the occupants of the other boat noticed that the fish had unhooked itself. At the same moment Kuntz, who was still standing, was seen to topple over and fall sideways from the boat, headfirst into the water. He never came up. At this point the water was about twelve feet deep and the grass and weeds came to within a few feet of the surface. Minnich and Cran at once rowed up to the spot where the man went down, but saw no traces of him. They then rowed to the boat house, where hooks were procured, and, after an hour's search, the body was recovered in exactly the same spot in which the man had gone down.

The body was bent and rigid and the arms drawn downward. It is the general supposition that Kuntz was either sun struck or taken with a fainting spell, which caused him to fall into the water. Some weeks ago he had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs and yesterday when he went to the lake was not at all well. Members of the party think he was dead when he struck the water, as he made no effort to save himself, but sank like a stone.

Kuntz was an excellent swimmer and has been known to swim a mile. He was twenty-nine years old and leaves, besides a wife and two small children, a widowed mother, a brother, Philip, of Chicago, and two sisters.

The body was taken to the boat house at Tom McGuire's and the coroner of Whitley county notified.

The remains have not yet arrived from Churubusco.

A BIG COMPANY

To Be Organized Here With $100,000 Capital.

They Will Manufacture Apparatus for Supplying Suburban Residences With Water---H. H. Barcus.

Tomorrow, papers will be filed with the county recorder organizing a big company, having capital to the extent of $100,000. The new concern will erect a factory and begin the manufacture of apparatus for supplying private residences with water; or, in other words, waterworks on a small scale for private homes in the country or suburban residents too far from the city water supply to be accessible to the city's pipes. A large number of men will be employed. Mr. Charles Pape is one of the leading promoters in the enterprise.

BACK TO HIS OLD STAND.

Today H. H. Barcus, the well-known confectioner, purchased for $2,000 the stock of goods formerly owned by H. H. Meyers, at 95 Calhoun street. This is the old stand where Mr. Barcus sold out two years ago to move further south on Calhoun street. He will, for the time, continue the store on the corner of Brackenridge street as a branch establishment.

Our Common Schools.

A prominent feature in a parade given at Boston last Friday, as mentioned in the telegraph columns of THE SENTINEL, was the Little Red schoolhouse. The free, the common, the public school, which is one of the distinguishing features of the United States as a country, is altogether too great an institution to belong to anything less than the country, and the people of this great nation will always foster, protect and advance it because it has been the means of educating the masses and placing America in the front as a nation in which general education is the distinguishing feature of our people.

The common school is one of several good ideas which took root very early in the history of our country. It was brought here from several countries which furnished settlers to the new world. It began on our soil with the beginnings of civil society, and like most good, sensible, practical ideas, it has "grown up with the country." The first clear outlines of the common school as we know it were seen in New England, but the great Middle states adopted it and as the "star of empire" took its way westward to the Pacific the common school "went along." The great western states each as they entered the union were presented by the general government with a magnificent landed endowment for the common schools, a rule that prevails to this day in regard to admitted states.

The common school has been a great success. For a hundred years and more it has known nothing but triumph. It 'fits" our country, its government, its institutions, its laws as the viewless air fits the round earth. It is, like the government and the people, republican; it is an exposition of the doctrine of human equality, the children of rich and poor stand alike; the bell rings in the morning and school "takes up," and until the evening when the children go home they have lived in a little miniature United States of America.

Under the circumstances it will be seen that the common school does not belong to any church, or sect, or political party, nor society, nor "lodge" It belongs to the whole people of the United States, who maintain it and who will keep it going forever and ever. Practically there is nobody in this country against the common school. The native American looks to the common school as the place where he will get his education as his father and mother before him did theirs, and as his children will after him.

The common school has the seat of its supremacy, not in laws and enactments and customs only, but in millions of human hearts. The school house at the cross-roads, on the hill or by the stream, always humble and unobtrusive, considering the part it plays, the work it does in the world, is looked back to by millions of men and women with feelings for which any words form inadequate expression. Beneath that lowly roof was found that priceless gift, an education, when there was no other door open. There were found the beginnings of wisdom, the spring of ambition, perchance the dawn of love. the very first inspirations of life. In the minds of a countless number as they look back to it the humble walls of the school house rise and spread and stretch away into those of a mighty temple. That is what the common school is to Americans, native and adopted, and they will see that it remains just where it is, the pride and hope of the country, every body's school, the school for the masses, the rich and poor alike.

Elections in Thirteen States.

Though this is supposed to be an "off year," politically, there will be elections in thirteen states, namely: Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Mississippi and Massachusetts. The Connecticut election for town officers and to pass upon the question of redistricting the state senate will be held October 7, and regular state elections will be held four weeks later—November 5—in the twelve other states named.

In Maryland a governor and an attorney general will be elected to serve four years, a comptroller to serve two years, all the members of the lower house of the general assembly, and fourteen senators. A state's attorney and sheriff will be elected in each county. A United States senator to succeed Senator Gibson will be chosen in Maryland next winter.

In Virginia all the members of the house of delegates and twenty (or one-half) of the state senate will be elected. The senators chosen this year will participate in the election of a successor to Senator Daniel.

Pennsylvania will choose a state treasurer for a term of three years and seven judges of the supreme court for ten years.

New Jersey will elect a governor for a term of three years, seven state senators for the same term, and an entire assembly of sixty members.

New York's state ticket will contain a secretary of state, comptroller, treasurer, attorney general and a state engineer for terms of three years each a judge of the court of appeals for a term of fourteen years, twelve judges of the supreme court for terms of fourteen years and fifty senators to serve three years and 150 assemblymen to serve one year each. The senators chosen in November will participate in electing a successor to Senator Hill.

In Ohio there will be elected a governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer and attorney general to serve two years, an auditor to serve four years, a judge of the supreme court to serve five years and a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Brice.

A full state ticket to serve for four years will be voted for in Kentucky, as well as a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Blackburn.

The Kansas people will vote for a chief justice of the supreme court to serve one year.

The voters of Iowa will select a full state ticket to serve two years and a legislature that will elect Senator Allison's successor.

A justice of the supreme court to serve six years and two regents of the state university will be chosen in Nebraska.

A full state ticket to serve four years, all the officers in the various counties and a legislature that will elect the successor to Senator George will be chosen in Mississippi.

A full state ticket to serve one year will be voted for in Massachusetts.

A BIG BLAZE.

The Draker & Co. Saw Mill, North of the City, Burns.

The Loss Said to be About $1,000—A Number of Minor Casualties in and About the City.

The saw mill plant situated about 200 yards northwest of the city pumping station and along the Lake Shore tracks was totally destroyed by fire last Saturday evening. The mill was the property of Messrs John Draker and H. M. McCracken and consisted of a substantial frame structure, a boiler and engine and other machinery usually found in a well equipped circular saw mill. The whole was estimated at $4 000, and with the exception of the boiler, is a total wreck. There was no insurance on building or machinery. Gus Franke and George Iba, of the pumping station, were the first to see the fire and they turned in the alarm. Owing to the dry weather and the inflammable condition of the mill building, the fire spread so rapidly that the entire structure was completely enveloped in flames when the department reached the scene, and their efforts to save the building were fruitless. The firemen worked bravely, however, and confined the fire to very narrow limits and the valuable lumber piles to the north and east of the burning building were not harmed in the least. Mr. Draker is the owner of another mill west of the city, and he will transfer the logs which are now in the yards at the burned mill and saw them into lumber. The mill will probably be rebuilt.

LEG BROKEN.

Yesterday afternoon, while Amil Schoeges, of No. 393 East Washington street, was watching the baloon ascension at Centlivre park, he accidentally slipped and fell on his left leg, causing a serious fracture. The injured man is quite advanced in years, but Dr Duemling thinks the fracture will soon heal.

CUT HER FOREHEAD.

A little girl named Aurentz living at the corner of Lafayette street and Creighton avenue, fell this morning while playing about the sidewalk and cut a deep gash in her forehead. Dr. J. E. Miller attended.

A VICIOUS DOG

Edward J. Klingman, of 373 Lafayette street, was badly chewed about the leg by a vicious dog, near his home Dr. Miller sewed up the wound and cauterized it. The dog will be shot.

The ten year old son of Granville Powell, of No. 305 West Main street, fell from a horse yesterday and had his right arm broken in two places by the horse stepping upon it. Dr. Geo. C. Stemen attended.

MOVE AGAINST MR. QUAY.

His Opponents Make a Proposition That He Shall Retire.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—An important move in the fight against Senator Quay in Pennsylvania developed today. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Waters came out with a proposition to have Quay retire from the contest for chairman of the state committee, provided the present chairman, B. F Gilkeson, will do so. Then a third man, probably Waters himself, would be chosen. Should this plan work it would be a great defeat for Quay, as he is the aggressor in this contest. The anti Quay forces are not so particular whether Gilkeson or some neutral man is chairman, but they won't have Quay. The senator must know that he is badly beaten and could not be elected at the convention on August 28, else his close friends would not come out now for a compromise. If Quay is defeated for chairman it will break forever his leadership in this state, which he has held for nearly twenty years. It will also mean the sure retirement, a year hence, of United States Senator Cameron, who is a free silver populist.

STABBED BY A TRAMP.

Vagabond in Pennsylvania Attempts to Kill His Benefactor.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 15.—Charles C Keetley, a railroad man, is at the hospital with four knife wounds in his breast and back. Keetley received them from a man whose life he saved. Early yesterday morning Keetley found a stranger asleep on the bumpers of a freight train at Thompson station on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad. The train had stopped for an obstruction. The slightest jar would have thrown the stranger under the wheels. With difficulty Keetley pulled the man off into the ditch beside the track. A few minutes later the stranger, who resented Keetley's merciful act, stole behind his benefactor and three times plunged a knife into his back and once in his breast. He left Keetley for dead. Any one of the four wounds may prove fatal. Keetley's assailant is thought to be a tramp.

There was a large crowd at Lake Everett yesterday, fully 200 persons being on the grounds. There was a misunderstanding as to the bath house being opened as it was not yet up. This morning eight carpenters were sent over and will begin at once to build a large bathing house, which will be ready next Sunday. A new set of sheds, arranged in the form of a square will also be built for the accommodation of horses.

Ex-Congressman Byran, of Nebraska, will speak in this city on the silver question on Wednesday evening.

SHERMAN NOT A CANDIDATE.

Senator Says He is Too Old to Take the Presidency.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, July 15.—Senator John Sherman was seen at his residence and his views asked on presidential politics. He said he was not a candidate, and added "If all the people of the United States should join together and offer it to me I would not accept the position. I am too old No man of seventy two has the right to undertake the work and responsibility which come to the chief executive of the United States It is a position of wear and tear and it should have a younger man."

Passengers Land.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Ward line steamer City of Washington arrived this morning from Tampico and Havana bringing sixty four cabin passengers. Owing to lack of certificates, thirty-eight of these passengers including eighteen Chinamen and nine ship wrecked seamen of the bark Thomas Brooks were transferred to Hoffman Island until tomorrow afternoon when they will be allowed to proceed to the city. The remaining twenty-six passengers being provided with certificates from Dr. Burgess, at Havana, were allowed to proceed with the steamer to her dock.

Secretary Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.—Secretary Carlisle and his son, Logan, who have just returned from London, where he assisted in the completion and delivery to the Rothschilds of $13,000 000 of the recent bond issue, reached Washington last night and were at their desks in the treasury department today. The secretary has spent the last two weeks as the guest of Secretary Hamlin at Marion, Mass.

Took His Own Life.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Chas A. Kimball, a broker, sixty one years old, committed suicide in his room in the hotel Empire today by turning on the gas.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Berry street M. E church have arranged to send a box to the destitute people in Indian Territory. Any one having clothing or anything to contribute please send it to the church tomorrow afternoon.

The Soldiers', Sons' and Citizens' club has passed appropriate resolutions upon the death of the late S. W. Stark, who was treasurer and an active member of that organization.

OUR SHIPBUILDING.

An Increase Over 1894 of Eleven Thousand Tons In Steam and Sailing Vessels.

The bureau of navigation has received preliminary returns showing that 682 steam and sailing vessels of 182,719 gross tons were built and documented in the United States during the last fiscal year, compared with 770 steam and sailing vessels of 121,547 tons during 1894, an increase of 11,000 tons.

Final and revised returns will somewhat increase the figures by the addition of barges, etc. Steam vessels numbered 288, of 75,728 gross tons; sailing vessels, 394, of 56,990 tons, a decrease of 8,000 tons steam, an increase of 19,000 tons sail compared with 1894.

Construction on the Atlantic and gulf coasts comprised 442 vessels of 79,520 tons, compared with 562 vessels of 68,478 tons for 1894. Construction on the great lakes comprised 98 vessels of 33,016 tons compared with 89 vessels of 40,372 tons. Among notable additions of the year to the merchant fleet are the steamers St. Louis, Northland and Newport News.

Steel construction comprised 36 vessels of 47,696 tons compared with 35 vessels of 50,736 tons in 1894.

The number of American vessels thus far officially reported as lost during the year comprised 35 steam vessels and 276 sailing vessels, barges, etc

Among the notable American marine disasters of the year are the recent foundering of the steamship Colima; the loss of the steamship Kowsenaw, reported missing with 31 lives on the Pacific; the stranding of the steamships Cienfuegos and Czarna, and the loss of the steamship Chicora on Lake Michigan.

REV. JOSIAH ADAMS BELIEVES ANIMALS HAVE SOUL LIFE.

He Has Founded a School of Biophilism. John Burroughs and Eugene Field Interested—The Objects and Work of the Society.

Biophilism is the name given to a new study or cult, which has for its chief object the study of animal psychology. The founder of the new cult is the Rev. Charles Josiah Adams, rector of the Church of the Holy Spirit at Rondout, and he has associated with him an executive committee, consisting of Eugene Field, the poet; John Burroughs, the naturalist and essayist; Eugene Glass, editor of The Dog Fancier, and Henry Abbey of Kingston, the writer.

According to Mr. Adams' definition, his word biophilism comes from the Greek word bios, life, and philein, to love, and it means the love of life—life in all of its forms—from the highest to the lowest. The biophilist is the one who gives every creature full credit for what there is in it—who would save the meanest creature pain and make it happy—who would mete out to all creatures immortality if he could—who, consequently, hopes for the immortality of the sentient universe.

The objects of the bureau of biophilism are set forth thus in its circular:

First.—To collect evidences that the lower animals may possess at least a showing of the same faculties that man possesses.

Second.—To circulate as widely as possible such evidences.

Third.—To awaken in the minds of as many people as can be reached the questions,

May not the lower animals be immortal?

May not the entire sentient universe be immortal?

What argument goes to prove man's immortality which does not go to prove the immortality of other sentient beings?

Fourth.—In the hope that the higher animal through such considerations may become somewhat more kindly in his treatment of the lower animal.

The bureau will attempt the attainment of these objects:

First.—Through observation and research.

Second.—Through the correspondence of its members and patrons.

Third.—Through publications.

Fourth.—Through lectures and symposiums.

In the matter of belief in the mental and moral attributes in the lower animals the other members of the executive committee do not go as far as Mr. Adams. They are, however, in sympathy with him in his idea of studying animals and his belief that, as understanding of household beasts becomes more general, cruelty, whether intentional or thoughtless, toward them will decrease. It is on this broad basis that the bureau will proceed with its work. Primarily the effort will be to collect from various sources evidence of reasoning power in animals, and from time to time this evidence will be published and circulated. Mr. Adams has published one book on the subject which has had a large circulation. It is called "Where Is My Dog?" and discusses broadly the question of the immortality of other animals than man. It was this book that attracted Eugene Field's attention, and he wrote to Mr. Adams as follows:

To the Rev C. J. Adams

SIR—I have read with tender interest your book entitled, "Where Is My Dog?" and I want to ask you whether you ever found the fox terrier you lost just before you wrote that book? I have a fox terrier, Jessie, and I have spent a great deal of money in "rewards" for her, for she has been "lost" a good many times. She has a soul. I am sending you herewith a little tale I recently printed in The News-Record. It may please you I hope so I really feel under deep obligations to you for your true, forcible words in behalf of man's best friend—the dog. Sincerely yours,

EUGENE FIELD.

Later, when the bureau of biophilism was formed, Mr. Field gladly consented to act on the executive committee. Although Mr. Adams is a firm believer in the theory that animals have souls, he does not hold that belief to be a part of biophilism.

"What we want to do," he said to a reporter who called on him, "is to establish a general cult having for its object interest in animals. I am in hearty sympathy with the work of the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They do a great and beneficent work. There are many men whom you must reach by the policeman's club. This is the work of that society. It is our intent to supplement that work by reaching by the advancement of knowledge many people who are susceptible to that kind of influence. The great mass of people are unkind toward animals because they have no realization that they are dealing with sentient beings.

"I myself believe that the lower animals possess to some degree every faculty that man possesses, and that the germs of these faculties are coexistent with the life germ. The higher we get the greater is the development until we finally come to man, the highest animal. To bring the highest animal into sympathy with the lower animals is the work before us."

Since Mr. Adams first owned a dog—and he has since owned many—he has been interested in animal psychology and has made a particular study of dogs. He has been very unfortunate in his dogs, having lost a number through stealing and poisoning. The dog attracts Mr. Adams not because he believes that dogs are the most intelligent animals, but because they are the most faithful and affectionate.

"A monkey is probably as intelligent as any other animal, if not more so," said Mr. Adams, "but the trouble with a monkey as a pet is that he is too monkeyish. His instinct is for mischief and sometimes for malevolence. Cats are very intelligent, too, but they care only for localities, not for persons, and they are faithful only to their own love of ease. Now, a dog will stick to you through thick and thin, the truest, staunchest, most changeless friend a man can have. That's why I love dogs."—New York Sun.

Hill Makes a Guess.

Senator Hill is said to have made a guess concerning the next Republican presidential nomination. He looks upon Allison as the probable man, for the reason that the Iowa man is not an extremist on either the tariff or silver questions, is conservative on all other matters of public import and comes from a section which the Republicans must carry in order to win the presidency.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

TERRE HAUTE, May 1, 1894.

Lyon Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.:

DEAR SIRS—I wish to speak a kind word for LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. During an attack of la grippe, from which I suffered greatly with stomach trouble, loss of appetite and general bad feelings, I was induced by a friend, who said it would remove all these troubles, to try your remedy. I admit I did not have much faith in them, but tried a box, and one box made me feel like a new man and did all my friend claimed they would. I believe them to be a long felt want in the medicine line.

Yours very truly,

A Great Responsibility.

The office boy was whistling "Sweet Marie" in a high key and with much energy.

"Did it ever occur to you," asked the boss, "what a responsibility you were assuming when you whistled that way?"

"Me?" said the boy.

"Certainly. Here you go to whistling that infernal tune. Some one hears it and unconsciously joins in. Two or three more hear him and they do likewise, and the thing spreads till the whole town from one end to the other is Sweet Marieing for dear life. You hadn't thought of that, had you?"

The office boy did not answer, but it was plain that the talk had made an impression on his mind, for ten minutes later he was heard to tell the elevator boy that "de ole man was gittin nutty, and dat ain't no lie, neither!"—Indianapolis Journal.

State Tax Board Having One Made.

A Novel Suit, Interesting Scalpers, Railway Companies and the Public—Local Gossip.

The state tax board is preparing an official railroad map of the state for public use. It has all the roads marked in colored lines which are easily traced, and the railroads can be followed and located without trouble. A different color marks each road and the systems are plainly seen at a glance. Indiana has never had an official railroad map of this kind, and in this respect it is behind other states. George U. Bingham, of the auditor's office, is preparing the draft for the map.

Franke & Rodenbeck were the lowest bidders and were awarded the contract. Their bid was $2,888 for both buildings.

AUTOMATIC COUPLERS.

An exchange states that besides the extra cost of the automatic couplers and of keeping them in repair, there is a material difference in the power required to pull a train of the old style link and pin coupler and those of a later invention. A link and pin coupler gives about a six-inch slack to a car. In moving a long train this gives an engine quite a start, and has helped more than one engine up a steep grade with a heavy train. Automatic couplers give a train the little slack which is in the box, and with some rigging, there is no slack even there. This makes it possible for an engine to move a train only on a dead pull. On roads where automatic couplers are used extensively the number of automatic couplers in a train is taken into consideration in deciding how many cars to put in it.

SUIT TO RECOVER TICKET MONEY.

Fort Wayne patrons of ticket brokers will be greatly interested in a suit brought by Arthur J. Morton, a Findlay ticket broker, who has commenced suit to determine whether a railroad company can legally confiscate a mileage ticket without refunding the money it represents. He purchased a 1,000 mile ticket on the Lake Erie and Western railroad for $20, which was taken up by the conductor after 238 miles had been used, on the ground that he was not the party to whom it was issued. Mr. Morton sues the company for $14 28, the value of the remaining mileage, and claims the ticket was issued to him although in a fictitious name. The outcome is being awaited with interest.

BRIEF MENTION.

John Burett is again working in the foundry department of the electric works.

John Druhot, moulder at the Bass works, will go to Blue lake tomorrow to camp out for a week.

This week the Wabash steam shovel plow will commence operations in the gravel pit west of Peru.

The first Niagara Falls excursion of the year will be run from Cincinnati, Ohio, July 18, over the Erie.

Mrs. Chartier and son, Ed., of Valparaiso, are visiting Engineer and Mrs Henry Blair, of East Howell street.

John McVey, night foreman at the Nickel Plate yards, has been promoted to the position of conductor on the road.

The Pennsylvania will spend $50,000 in fitting up as a pleasure resort a grove near Thompson station, on the Monongahela river.

William Palmer, who was suffering last week with malarial fever, was able to resume work in the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

The heirs of Frederick Schultz, a Panhandle engineer who was killed at Logansport June 9, have brought suit for $10,000 against the company.

The Huntington Democrat says: "Miss Lena Foster, of the superintendent's office, is entertaining as her guest Miss Stella Noll, of Fort Wayne."

Grant Smith, who was night yardmaster of the Wabash at Tilton for some time, has been transferred to Peru, where he will work in the yards also.

The child of Nelson Crawford, of the electric works, is now past the danger point and is expected to rapidly improve. The little one has been ill a month.

A freight blockade has taken place at Pittsburg and the lines entering that city have given notice that perishable freight will not be received for that point for a few days.

The Peru Chronicle says: "John Knepper, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of William Hacker last night while on his way home from Springfield, Ill., where he has been attending college."

Chester Darnell, Pittsburg engineer, is sick and off duty.

W. A. Donlin, of the electric works, is sick and off duty.

Casper Limecooley, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is sick.

Machinist Louis R. Bookwalter, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

Charles Porter, of the Wabash freight office, spent Sunday with his parents in Peru.

W. S. Smith has been transferred from the cinder pit to the boiler department of the Wabash shops.

C. S. Knight, of the electric works, arrived home last night. He had been west on business for the company.

R. A. Houghton, roadmaster of the Wabash, was here today on business for the company. He resides in Defiance.

E. J. Hawthorne came home last evening, after a sojourn of some days in the east in the interest of the electric works.

William Zutermeister, of the electric works, has gone to Richmond, Ind., to attend the funeral of one of the children of his brother.

T. Z. Babcock, engineer at the electric works, has returned from Pierceton, where he spent a few days with relatives and friends.

Charles Pape, of the Fleming Manufacturing company, has returned from Niagara Falls, where he spent two or three days very pleasantly.

Valentine Workman, of the electric works, is off duty. Saturday afternoon one of his hands was lacerated in a lathe which he was operating.

Mr. Hickock, of the electric works, came home Saturday, after being engaged several days at Barnesville, Pa., in the interest of the company.

Miss Kittie Girard, who was sick a portion of last week, resumed her duties in the electric light offices this morning. She is a stenographer.

S. Bostick, messenger in Supt. G. L. Potter's office, is enjoying his annual vacation, and Marshall Humphrey, an apprentice in the machine shop, is acting as messenger.

J. Neiber, a carpenter in the east car shops, went to Cincinnati today to attend the funeral of a relative. News of the death was conveyed to him through a telegram this morning.

J. Didier, a car builder in the east car shops, had the misfortune to crush his right hand last Saturday afternoon and is off duty. Dr. George C. Stemen dressed the wounded member.

Amos Kress, of the Standard Wheel works, who was injured last Friday, as mentioned in these columns, is not able to walk yet, though he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

This morning Engineer John Carroll left for Andrews with engines 204, 338 and 388, they having recently been repaired and repainted. The former engine was steamed up and hauled the other two.

Thomas Mills is today celebrating the eighteenth anniversary of his signing the Murphy temperance pledge. He has faithfully kept that pledge and regards it as one of the most important events in his life.

F. J. Miller has been appointed general passenger agent of the Pullman Palace Car company, vice Mr. Gray, deceased. Mr. Miller has been the assistant general passenger agent of the company for the last five years.

Calls for cars to load with wheat for Toledo and other lake points are becoming more numerous and are taken by freight men as evidence that, despite the talk of a very light crop, there will be considerable wheat to ship.

After an illness of two weeks, Fireman E. H. White resumed his duties on Wabash switch engine 267 this morning and Fireman O. A. Harmes returned to Andrews to resume his position in the through freight service.

Emanuel's congregation has secured ground for church purposes at the corner of Broadway and Scott avenue, and will soon commence the erection of a parsonage thereon. Later they will erect a church building on the same lot.

Machinist Philip J. Singleton, of 27 Baker street, is a temporary cripple. Last Saturday a heavy wrench dropped from the running boards of an engine and alighted upon Mr. Singleton's left foot, bruising the member most painfully.

Bert Byers, who manipulates the throttle of a switch engine in the Pennsylvania yards in Chicago, spent Sunday in this city with his brother-in-law, Engineer J. A. Keplinger. Mr. Byers will return to Chicago on No. 9 tonight.

William Henry Tigar, chief dispatcher of the Pennsylvania company at this point and a member of the auditing committee of the Voluntary Relief department, went to Cleveland this morning on business connected with the relief.

Conductor Ben Stonecifer, of the Muncie road, has been down at Cambridge City several days, attending the funeral of his father. The sad circumstances surrounding the elder Stonecifer's death were chronicled last week.

A lively but harmless runaway occurred on Broadway at 9 o'clock this morning, the team being the grays that draw one of the Standard Oil company's wagons. They ran from Taylor street to Creighton avenue, where they were stopped.

W. S. Lipsett, who for some years has had charge of a local freight train between Fort Wayne and Lima, is lying dangerously ill at his home in the latter place. Conductor T. Mulcahey has charge of the local during the illness of Mr. Lipsett.

Ernest W. Dartnell, a clerk in the shop clerk's department of the Pennsylvania works, has returned from England, where he spent two or three months with his parents. The old people reside in Croyden, a city about twenty miles from London.

The Panhandle company will increase its yard capacity at Pittsburg by occupying with tracks a large piece of ground which has been occupied for years by coal yards. M. B. Cushing, engineer of maintenance of way has been placed in charge of the work.

The Logansport Daily Pharos says: "The Wabash is equipping all its freight cars with steps and irons on top to aid the men in climbing up, according to the new law. Quite a large number of the new irons have been sent down here from the Fort Wayne shops."

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, which laid off 15 per cent. of its employes in its operating department during the panic, has ordered a large number of the men re employed and if business continues to improve will have its entire force at work again within thirty days.

George H. Judy writes his sons here that he is getting along nicely in his new position at Dayton, that of foreman of the blacksmith shops of the Barney & Smith company. Mrs. Judy, who has been in Altoona, Pa., for some weeks, will return here next Wednesday and soon after will remove to Dayton.

The Sunday train to Rome City is quite popular with our people and a money-maker for the Grand Rapids company. Yesterday the train pulled out of this city with its two coaches crowded to their full capacity. If the business increases, and it promises to do so, more coaches will have to be provided.

A rumor is in circulation that a syndicate for the manufacture of bicycles is to be organized. The Studebaker Brothers, of South Bend, are said to be at the head of the movement and the works will be located in that city. It is proposed to build a wheel that will answer all ordinary purposes and which can be retailed at $30.

Garrett, a small town on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad a few miles west of Auburn, on the Detroit line, is making an endeavor to have the Wabash extend a line from Ashley, on the Chicago extension, to their place and the people have asked the Chicago board of trade to assist them. The line, if built, would be about fifteen miles in length and would have to cross the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern.

Frank Kierspe, a machinist, has taken a position in the Bass works, beginning work this morning. He is a son of the well known machinist at the Wabash shops, Charles F. Kierspe, and served an apprenticeship in the Wabash shops. Three years ago Frank went east and until recently he was employed in a machine shop in Waterbury, Conn. He returns here with the intention of making this his future home.

C. W. Meek, the telegraph operator at the west Nickel Plate depot in this city, was in Kosciusko county last week spending his vacation and while there spent a few days fishing at the lakes for which that county is famous. It is well known that they are the best fishing places in this section of the state, but the stories that "Charley" tells of his catches are simply incredulous and but very few of his friends believe them. At Barbee lake, in two hours one morning, he says, he caught 230 pounds of bass, one of the fish being two feet in length. Charley is one of the finest operators on the road, but as a fisherman, his friends say, he is no good at all. With a reputation like this, his fish stories don't go.

SIX O'CLOCK.

WEARY WOMEN WATCH FOR THAT BLESSED HOUR.

Help for our Working-Girls and Women Near at Hand.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

ON the stroke of six ends the day's work at stores, offices, factories, mills, where women are employed. But their necessary work at home, sewing, mending, etc., must be done after that time, and "their work is never done." All women work; some for ambition, some for economy in the household, but the great mass of women work for their daily bread. All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbances, and the nature of their duties often quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhœa, and perhaps irregular or suppressed "monthly periods," causing severe backache, loss of appetite, nervousness, irritability and weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for all these troubles. It strengthens the proper muscles, and cures displacement.

Backache, dizziness, fainting, bearing-down, disordered stomach, moodiness, dislike of friends and society—all symptoms of the one cause—will be quickly dispelled. Write Mrs. Pinkham about your trouble.

You can tell the story of your pain to a woman, and get the help that only woman can give. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

FATAL WRECK IN OHIO.

Cincinnati Man Caught Under the Debris of Fourteen Cars.

WHITE SULPHUR Ohio, July 15.—At 11:30 yesterday a bad wreck occurred on the Big Four, resulting in the destruction of fourteen cars of whisky, feed, tobacco and candies, the loss amounting to $75,000. Dick Hurley, a molder, of Cincinnati, was killed. The cause of the accident was the burning of a journal, the car leaving the track after it had plowed the earth for a mile. A number of tramps are supposed to be under the debris. Work trains from Springfield and Delaware are removing the wreckage.

Looking Up Testimony.

"Well, what kind of a breakfast did you have?" inquired a slightly shabby looking individual, taking a seat in front of the hotel and addressing a commercial traveler.

"Worst layout I ever struck on my whole route. Horrible spread to dish up to a hungry man."

"The steaks would have half soled a pair of kip boots?"

"You bet! Why, the coffee was so transparent I could see samples of the cook's hair curled up in the bottom of the cup."

"And you couldn't tell the difference between the butter and the sweet oil?"

"No, and the bread was the worst case of sour mash I ever saw in my life."

"And the baked potatoes were just warmed through and as solid as a dornick?"

"Yes, and they tried to palm off three different dishes of yesterday's cold soup for a new species of hash."

"And the roast looked like a piece of charcoal?"

"Bet your life! And the batter cakes were nothing less than raw dough."

"And the waiters were saucy and indifferent?"

"Yes; one of 'em picked up a chair and offered to hit me with it if I called for any more iced tea. I'd like to see the landlord of this ranch. I'd just like to see him as a curiosity. He must be the oruriest cuss in the states."

"Well, I've been thinking some of rejuvenating this establishment for quite awhile, and, being the landlord, I'm taking a quiet stroll in and out among the guests getting their views. I always like to strike a live, radical kicker, like yourself, because then I get in all the important testimony for the prosecution and know just where to begin with my reconstruction. Just step here on your way back, and you'll find different arrangements."—Texas Siftings.

Logical.

Jerry—Gracious, Jessie, you'll fall off that stepladder and break your neck. Why don't you have Bridget hang the curtains?

Jessie—Because if I hurt myself you will foot the bills, but if she gets hurt I will have to pay the expense out of the house money.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Celia Fisher, who has been at Los Angeles, Cal., for some time, writes to friends here that her health has been greatly benefitted by the genial climate of the Pacific coast and that she is able to pursue her musical studies uninterruptedly. On the Fourth of July Los Angeles celebrated Independence day in a grand way, the city being crowded with people from the various towns and the country around The exercises during the day at the pavillion were largely attended. Mrs Fisher participated in the musical program and all of the Los Angeles papers were complimentary in their mention of her. The Los Angeles Express says 'Captain Cressey then introduced Mrs Celia Fisher, who, in a little esthetic gown of white silk, the American flag in her hand, sang with charming effect, "The Star Spangled Banner" Mrs Fisher has a voice of peculiar sweetness and easily filled the great hall, her clear, pure notes reaching the galleries with their patriotic fervor. The audience and the band joined in the chorus and the dear old hymn thrilled all with its beauty."

Miss Luella C. Boles, who was a delegate from the Epworth League of the Wayne street M E church to the international convention of the Epworth League, at Chattanooga, Tenn., made her report of the convention at the meeting of the league last night. It gave an account in an abbreviated form of all the most interesting and important proceedings of the convention, reviewing the principal and most interesting thoughts of the greatest speeches made and the leading events of the gathering, which was the largest religious meeting ever held in the south. Her description of the sunrise prayer meeting held on top of Lookout mountain was most graphic and gave her hearers a good idea of the scene and the religious enthusiasm characterizing it. Indeed, her report of the convention and its work gave those who attended the meeting and heard it a splendid idea of the whole convention, which was in session for four days. Miss Boles is a fluent and entertaining writer and her report showed careful preparation and evidenced the fact that she had made herself most familiar with and had listened attentively to almost the entire proceedings of the convention. The reading of her report occupied twenty-five minutes and she held her large audience interested until its close. When she finished, Miss Louisa Driftmeyer, who presided at the meeting, spoke in warm terms of praise of the excellency of the report and at her suggestion the league voted Miss Boles its thanks.

THE Philosophy of It

Given, a knowledge of the people's wants, what is necessary to supply them? Answer:

(1) A close eye on all the manufacturing centres of the world.

(2) Ability to discriminate between good and bad productions and to select only the former.

(3) Unlimited cash capital with which to buy at the low figures that Cash always commands.

As we fulfill all the above requirements it's easy to understand why we can make our prices low to you.

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR.

Hot days, cold days, every day, busy as bees saving Fort Wayne the worry of home sewing, saving them part of the cost they have counted for Underwear, giving them more exquisitely trimmed garments than they would have patience to make.

SIGHT SEEING NOW

Will be Done by the Christian Endeavorers at Boston.

The Great Convention Closes Tonight—Services Yesterday and the Exercises Today.

BOSTON, July 15.—Tonight the fourteenth international convention of the Y. P. S. C. E., one of the most successful meetings in the history of the society, will close and most of the delegates will devote the rest of the week to sightseeing in Boston and vicinity. The day opened with an overcast sky, but it soon cleared considerably and permitted the warming rays of the sun to temper a rather chilly east wind.

Yesterday visiting clergymen and lay-delegates preached and spoke in 110 churches—in Boston, Auburndale, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, South Medford, Natick, Newtonville, Revere, Roslindale, Somerville, Wollaston, Winthrop and Melrose. Of course, the sermons were of a special character and the congregations were made up of the sixty odd thousand Christian Endeavor delegates, besides the citizens of the places named, who went to hear the visitors. In some of the churches the regular congregations absented themselves in order that the delegates might have plenty of room.

Perhaps the most important sermon of the day was that of Canon J. B. Richardson, of London, Ont., in Trinity church. He alluded at length to the pope's recent letter to the English people, written with the object of uniting the English church with the holy see, and while he found some things in the letter which he could not agree with, he expressed the gratification which he felt at the proof which the letter afforded that there was a widespread and genuine desire to unite all Christians in the fold of Christ.

He said in part: "The battlecry of liberalism is, 'Religion without dogma and a church without a pale.' It is a popular shout. Creed is one of best hated things in the language. Sectarianism is the pharisaism of the modern church. We rejoice today that there is no provision for it in this theocratic movement. The divine order of the new life is Christ, fellowship, co-operation."

The services of today seem to have a deeper religious feeling than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6:30 and was, in fact, the principal subject of the day. The attendance of all the morning meetings was as large as on any day last week. The addresses of President Geo. A. Gates, D. D., of Iowa college, and President D. Warfield, LL. D., of Easton, Pa., in Tent Williston, were the features of the morning. The former spoke of "The Consecration of an Educated Life," and he was followed by his great audience with close attention. President Warfield's address was on "The Attractions of the Ministry to Educated Men."

At Tent Endeavor an address by Robert E. Speer, of New York, on the missionary service proved a great drawing card. Mr. Speer's great work in missionary fields has made him famous among Christian Endeavorers and thousands were surprised this morning at the youth of this leader. He is not yet thirty years old, but is a veteran in his chosen work. This morning meetings in both tents were conducted under the general title, "The Scholarship of the World for Christ."

At Tent Williston and Mechanic's hall encouraging reports concerning the religious life in colleges were made and in both tents and the hall the roll of honor upon which was inscribed the names of the unions whose membership have been able to give liberally to the cause was simultaneously enrolled. The exercises were accompanied by suitable addresses.

Rev. W. C. Biting, D. D., of New York, conducted the exercise in Mechanics hall; Rev. A. C. Peck of Denver, in Williston, and Rev. Ira Landrith, of Nashville, in Endeavor.

The presentation of a banner to the local union for the best work in promoting systematic and proportionate giving was made at Mechanics building and Tent Williston.

Rev. J. H. Stuckenburg, of Cambridge, Mass., delivered, in Mechanics building, and address on "The Christian Personality" that deserved personal mention, and the same should be said of the addresses by Rev. A. F. Cobb, D. D., of Springfield, Ill., and Rev. Wm. G. Puddlefoot, of South Farmingham, Mass. The praise and song services at the big meetings were as they have been since the opening of the convention full of snap energy and earnestness. The aggregate attendance was about 23,000.

The regular noon evangilistic service attracted crows of workers who joined in the praise with a seriousness that seemed to indicate regret that today was the last of the convention. The largest of these rallies were held at Faneuil hall, where Rev. Francis E. Smiley, of Denver, Colo., led the services, and in Broomfield street church, under the leadership of O. N. Hunt, of Minneapolis. The other gatherings were at the usual stores and street corners.

Speaking of "The Christian Personality," J. S. W. Stuckenburg said: "The epoch of personality means a new era. We have had an enthusiasm for nature, but now we have a passion for humanity. Things have absorbed the attention; now man is the supreme concern. Political economy has discussed riches, national wealth, value and such things, but now Roscher, one of the foremost economists, pronounces man himself the beginning and the end of economic science, and Europe and America echo the thought. Colridge affirmed that property is the grand basis of government, but we are far beyond that, and know that men are the grand basis, while property is but an attachment to the personality. On education the great aim has been to teach men something; now the aim is to make them something."

The address of W. G. Puddlefoot on "National Needs and Perils," was one of the most interesting of the meeting. He said: "The record of homicide has risen from 1,467 in 1882 to 9,800 in 1894. In twenty years over 25,000 children had been abandoned by their mothers in New York. He attributed the real cause of so much crime to the scarcity of churches. In thousands of towns, villages and communities, they have no church. Of course," said he, "there are other causes of crime. The rapid growth of the city at the expense of the rural district is one, and it is as true in newer sections as the old, and it works badly both ways. The decayed towns have hard work to keep up the school and church for lack of material, and the children go into the cities, which have as yet no room for thousands of children, growing up with nothing but the street education of the slums. So that today the two points of danger lie on the frontier and in the great cities."

Rev. Wayland Hoyt, of Minneapolis, presided over the meeting in Tent Williston this forenoon. President Wm. R. Harper, L. L. D., of the university of Chicago, was scheduled to preside but was unavoidably absent. The tent was well filled, about 9,000 being present, and much fervor was manifest. After praise and prayer, Franklin D. Elmor, of West Hartford, Conn., reported concerning the work of the college Y. M. C. A. in the institutions of higher learning throughout the country. He said the good done by the organization was incalculable.

The services of today seem to have a deeper religious feeling than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6:30 and was in fact the principal subject of the day. The attendance of all the morning meetings was as large as on any day last week. The addresses of President George A. Gates, D. D., of Iowa college, and President D. Warfield, L. L. HORRIBLE DISCOVERY!

Lower Half of a Corpse Found, in a Box Which Floated in Mitchell's Bay.

ALGONAC, Mich., July 15.—A box containing part of a human body was found in Mitchell's Bay today, and everything indicates that a murder has been committed. The body had been hewed in two just below the ribs, and the chest, head and arms are missing. The remains were carefully packed and the box securely nailed. There is no way of identifying the body and the case is a complete mystery.

IN DRUNKEN RAGE

A Chicago Saloonkeeper Enacts a Triple Tragedy.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Peter Hazel, a saloonkeeper at Fifty-ninth street and Wabash avenue, in a drunken rage fatally injured his wife and child and himself. Hazel had been drinking heavily and had made frequent threats of taking his life. His wife remonstrated with him today, and becoming furious Hazel seized a butcher knife and throwing Mrs. Hazel upon a table cut her throat from ear to ear. He then turned upon his child, a little girl, and holding her up by the hair hacked her throat and face in a half dozen places, finishing the work by driving the bloody blade into his own neck. The three were dying when help reached them.

Battle Expected.

HONG KONG, July 15.—A force of 7,000 Japanese troops has left Tsalutla to attack the black flags at Tai Wan Fu, Island of Formosa. A battle between the opposing troops is expected to take place on Saturday next, July 20. A strong naval force will cooperate with the land force of the Japanese. Reports received here from the south part of the Island of Formosa show that all is quiet there.

Died From Wounds.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Clarence Barr, the Chinatown guide, who was stabbed by O. R. Henderson, a traveling salesman from Rochester, N. Y., during the course of a row over the payment for drinks in the barroom of the Baldwin house, early Saturday morning, died this morning. Henderson has been charged with murder.

A Soaking Rain.

MIDLAND, Mich., July 15.—A soaking rain visited this section of the state last night, checking the forest fires. The settlers at Hubbard lake are out of danger for the time being.

BRICE'S NEW ROAD.

And Continue It From Lima to Detroit to Parallel the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road.

LIMA, Ohio, July 15.—It is stated here on apparently good authority that Senator Brice is behind a big scheme to buy in the Ohio Southern road from the receiver and build an extension from Lima to Detroit, Mich., to parallell the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, which he failed to secure control of a year ago. The line will only be ten miles longer than the present route. It is understood the right of way through this city was secured this morning.

MOB VIOLENCE AGAIN.

Negro Murderer Taken From Jail and Hanged.

One Hundred Men Take the Law in Their Own Hands, to the Disgrace of Their City.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 15.—Ira Johnson, colored, who killed a young white man named Longford, in a quarrel at Piedmont, a factory town ten miles from here, on the 7th instant, was taken from the county jail at 3 o'clock this morning by a mob of 100 men who carried him outside the city limits, swung him to a tree and riddled his body with bullets. The lynching was accomplished quietly and few citizens knew anything about it until this morning. The crime is greatly deplored in the community, and especially as court convened today and the negro would have been given a speedy trial.

WOMAN COUNSELS A MURDER.

Charged With an Effort to Kill Prosecutor Heard.

VALPARAISO, Ind., July 15.—Mrs. John Reddington was arrested Saturday night on a charge of having attempted to hire men to murder Prosecutor Heard, of Porter and Lake counties. The official has been particularly active in his warfare against evildoers and his name has become a terror to them. The officials claim to have two letters written by Mrs. Reddington to two men in Lake county, where she resides, offering them money to kill Heard, and advising them, if necessary, to accomplish the deed by blowing up his house with dynamite. One of the men confided the contents of the letter to a friend, who in turn informed the officials and they secured the letters. Opinion here is greatly divided, as the woman has a number of friends, but the officials claim to have a sure case.

GIVES BIRTH TO A QUARTET.

Pittsburg Woman Presents Her Husband With Four Children at Once.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin, wife of Hugh Rankin, living at 3929 Liberty avenue, gave birth to four children at one time last evening. The quartet made its appearance about 6 o'clock in the evening. There were three boys and one girl. One of the boys died about 3 o'clock this morning. The other three youngsters are hearty, as is the mother, and are doing well. Three years ago Mrs. Rankin gave birth to an infant, which died, and two years ago she presented her husband with twins. One of the twins died. The quartet born yesterday aggregated twenty pounds in weight. Mr. Rankin is a melter in a steel works and fortunately for him that industry is still booming.

DISTRIBUTES A MILLION BIBLES.

American Bible Society Does Much Work Despite the Hard Times.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The seventy-ninth annual report of the American Bible society has just been published. It shows that while gifts to the society's treasury during the past year have been smaller than could have been desired, yet its widely extended work has been conducted without serious embarrassment. More than 1,500,000 Bibles, Testaments and integral portions of the scriptures were printed by the society within the period covered by the report, and more than 1,000,000 of these were printed on the presses of the Bible house. The society has distributed more Bibles in China during the year than in any other preceding year since it began work in that country.

IN THE RIVER.

The Dead Body of Patrick Cooney is Found.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 15.—The dead body of Patrick Cooney, who had been employed as night watchman in the yards of the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad company, was found in the river early this morning. The dead man's nose had been crushed in, his front teeth had been knocked out and the body bore other evidence of an assault. It is supposed that Cooney was murdered and thrown into the water last night by a gang of robbers, whom he probably detected in the act of looting cars. No clew to the identity of the murders has been obtained.

Catholic Summer School.

MADISON, Wis., July 15.—The Columbian Catholic summer school is an assured success. The first lecture today at the Fuller Opera house by the Rev. P. J. Danehy, of St. Paul, was attended by four hundred, and it is known as many more will arrive today and tomorrow. Father Danehy gave a brilliant address on the origin and development of the Canon. At the opening of the exercises the approval and blessing of Pope Leo XIII on the school was read.

WILL IMITATE PERRY.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons to Fight on Lake Erie.

Two Immense Ferry Boats, Lashed Together, Accommodating 4,000 People, Will be Used.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 15.—The Ann Arbor railway officials here have assented to a proposition, made by Toledo sporting men, to allow the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fistic encounter to take place on their two big transfer boats used for ferrying loaded trains across Lake Michigan. Each is 260 feet long and sixty feet wide, and the plan is to have the two boats lashed stem to stem and 4,000 people could witness the fight. The Toledo projectors of the scheme are now in communication with the backers of the two athletes.

Out for the Men Who Lynched George Rose.

Liquor Crusaders Are the Accused Parties and Liquor Dealers Are the Accusers.

EMPORIA, Kas., July 15.—For several weeks detectives have been at work securing evidence against the men who lynched George Rose, at Cottonwood Falls, in May, 1894. There are twenty-five warrants in the hands of the sheriff for prominent people in Cottonwood Falls and Strong City, and arrests will probably be made this afternoon. The trouble grew out of the recent closing of Strong City joints and it is said that the liquor crusaders are the men for whom the warrants are out and that the joints and their friends are behind the work of the detectives. Much excitement prevails in both towns and the best people in Chase county fear serious trouble before the quarrel is settled.

CLAIMS A FORTUNE.

Cleveland Editor After an Estate Valued at a Quarter of a Million.

CLEVELAND, July 15.—Harry Leonard, of this city, editor of the Voice of the People, is a claimant for $250,000, based on a will executed in 1824. He is a West Indian. In 1824 U. B. Frazer, a wealthy planter of Deverary and Assequible, South America, took a trip to England and made a will. On November 22, of that year, the ship was wrecked and all on board were lost. The will contained a clause, leaving land, now extremely valuable, nine slaves and £8,000 to a son and daughter, named Sara Dorothy, who afterward was married to a man named Belgrane, a wealthy planter. Belgrane died and the woman was again married, this time to a man named Leonard, the father of the claimant. Her next husband was Masiah, a British soldier. Harry Leonard's mother was a child of Frazier, born after his death, and for that reason her name was not included in the will. Leonard's mother had a copy of the will and she left it to her son, who is going to contest it. Most of the money is in the hands of the family of Phillip Codd, in Kensington, England.

ARRESTS IN THE MYERS CASE.

Two Residents of Elwood Charged With Complicity in the Poisoning.

ELWOOD, Ind., July 15.—At 9 o'clock last night A. F. Burnett and Dr. Frank Lytle, of this city, were arrested for complicity in the supposed poisoning of Thomas Myers for his life insurance. Warrants were issued in Hancock county and brought here. Sheriff Starr, of Madison county, could not take the men from Elwood because of a defect in the warrants. As soon as the defect was discovered word was sent to Greenfield. New warrants will be secured at once. Meanwhile the men are held in jail. There is also a warrant out for Mrs. Cox, wife of the doctor who, it is claimed, put Myers out of the way for the insurance money, but she left same time Friday night, going to Franklin, Johnson county. She is wanted to tell what she knows of the case. Her husband is believed to be in Texas.

California Mystery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Governor Budd is endeavoring to unravel the mystery connected with the death of Frank A. Goodall, whose body was found floating in the San Joaquin river near Livingston three years ago and consigned to an unmarked grave at the water's edge. Nothing was known about Godall at the time, but Governor Budd has recently been informed that Goodall resided in Virginia and was superintendent of schools of the town in which he lived. The information was conveyed in a letter from a friend of Goodall's, who believes he was murdered and robbed. The governor will investigate the case.

Pioneer Dead.

FRESNO, Cala., July 15.—Cornelius Yager, one of the most noted of California's pioneers, died here last night. He was born in Kentucky in 1811 and was connected with some of the most prominent families in the state. When an old man he learned that he was one of the heirs to an estate in Germany valued at $50,000,000. The money was left by some relatives and now lies in the bank at Hamburg awaiting settlement.

Sent to Prison.

KEOKUK, Iowa, July 15.—In the federal court today Judge Woolson sentenced ex-State Senator E. R. Cassatt, the Pella bank wrecker, to nine years in the Anamosa penitentiary.

FIVE HUNDRED TO DIE.

Armenians Resolve to Give Up Their Lives.

The Object is to Arouse Other Nations to the Necessity of Protecting Eastern Christians.

VAN, Armenia, July 15.—In the city of Van there are 500 young men sworn to give themselves as a sacrifice to Turkish butchery in the hope that the attention of England may be more strongly called to the desperate situation of their people. The Armenians cannot accept any scheme of reform which does not have for its fundamental principles the absolute control of the European powers. Unless Europe controls the reforms there will be a massacre of 20,000 Christians in the city of Van within three months. The Armenians themselves will bring this about rather than be cast adrift by their fellow Christians of the west. There is no language quite adequate to a description of the real condition of Armenia at present. Men are beaten, robbed and murdered, and women are ravished by Kurds and Turkish soldiers. Woe and want and despair and death stalk abroad in the beautiful land that was once a part of the Garden of Eden. The inhabitants of Van are living on the brink of a massacre from day to day.

The Sasun massacre, it would appear, was one of the most carefully planned outrages in history. The evidence of this is circumstantial only, but it is alleged to be none the less conclusive. During the months of June, July and August, preceding the Sasun massacre, the Kurdish chiefs in the country surrounding the Sasun region, and particularly the districts in the southward and southwestward, were apparently unusually busy in gathering up the scattered warriors of their tribes for an invasion of the Sasun region.

In July and August enormous quantities of petroleum were shipped from Erzroum to Moush. This petroleum came originally from Russia to Erzroum, and so great was the quantity brought over the mountain roads that it was a subject of remark to very many persons. For a time it looked as if nothing went over the roads between Erzroum and Moush but petroleum. Now, it is a fact that Moush does not use a great quantity of petroleum herself, nor do her merchants sell much of it to the surrounding country. In the villages candles of sheep fat oil are used for lights. What Moush wanted with those countless cans of petroleum was a mystery. But the mystery was a mystery no longer after the Sasun massacre, for that petroleum was used to burn the houses of the Sasun villages and to cremate the bodies of the wretched villagers who fell victims to the awful butchery. In burning the houses, the petroleum was thrown upon the woodwork in generous quantities and set on fire, with the result that everything that could burn went up in smoke. In cremating the dead, the bodies were, in many cases, placed between layers of wood and built up into a sort of funeral pile. The entire mass was then saturated with petroleum and set on fire. It is charged that living men were cremated in the same way. But this was a merciful way of putting the unfortunate creatures to death in comparison with the tortures inflicted on many others.

The massing of troops near the Sasun region, and particularly at Moush, was carried on for some time before the beginning of the massacre in order that everything might be in readiness according to the program said to have been carefully made out at Constantinople. Several weeks after the Sasun massacre, it is claimed, orders were sent from the palace at Constantinople for a massacre of the inhabitants of Modikan, a district lying to the south and southeast of Sassoun, but when it was seen that an investigation of the massacre at Sasun was inevitable, the order, it is said, was repealed, and Modikan was not molested, except in the course of prosecution in general in parts of Armenia.

By the transfer from Van to Constantinople of the advance guard of the Armenian revolutionary movement, captured in the village of Tchibonkla, on May 19, the Turkish government has taken a decisive step toward quieting public excitement in the eastern part of the empire. The governor of Van, Bahri Pasha, has, during the week, added several interesting facts to the alleged concession of Harry Williams, the leader of the captured band. According to the governor Williams confessed that the revolutionary party, which sent him to begin the revolution, has 3,000 rifles in Trieste, Austria, which will be shipped to Armenia for the use of the patriots at the earliest opportunity.

An interesting incident of Williams' confession, as made public by Bahri, is the fact that he is not a British subject at all, but is a native of the Caucasus region of Russia, and strangely enough of the very district in which Bahri himself was born.

Leaving out of consideration entirely the second revolutionary band across the Persian border, it is an undeniable fact that the Armenian situation was never at a more critical point.

Prompted by Jealousy.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 15.—Prompted by jealousy, Stephen Webb, a colored employe of the Pennsylvania railway, shot Emma Harriss, aged twenty, three times early this morning, inflicting mortal wounds. Sergeant Ryan, who heard the shots, hastened to the spot, and was about to arrest Webb, when the latter attempted to shoot himself, but Sergeant Ryan knocked the pistol from his hand. Webb then drew a long knife and cut the sergeant on the side of the head, inflicting a painful but not fatal scalp wound. Ryan, then bleeding profusely from his wound, kept hold of his prisoner, who weighs 220 pounds, and landed him at the station house.

MRS. JACOB L. GOSHORN.

Demise of a Well Known and Estimable Lady.

Mrs. Martha Darker, of Butler Street, Called to Her Reward—George Brossard Dies.

At her home, No. 336 East Washington street, last night at 11:15 o'clock, occurred the death of Mrs. Nancy L. Goshorn, wife of Jacob L. Goshorn, superintendent of the Water Power company on Spy Run. The cause of death was a general breaking down of the system. Mrs. Goshorn was born in Marion county, Ohio, on Feb. 15, 1828. Her maiden name was Hughey. She was married in that county on the 29th day of October, 1850, and five years later, with her husband, came to Fort Wayne, where they have since resided. To the couple were born eight children, only two of whom, Mrs. Sarah S. Crawford and Miss Maggie H., survive. Both reside at the family home, on East Washington street. Mrs. Goshorn has been an invalid for a number of years, but her death last night was hardly expected. She was an excellent Christian woman and a member of the Trinity English Lutheran church. Hosts of sincere friends will mourn her departure. The funeral will be held on Wednesday from the church at an hour not yet determined, Rev. Wagenhals will officiate.

BROSSARD.

At his home, 18 West Fifth street, Saturday evening about 5:30 o'clock occurred the death of George Brossard, after an illness of several months. The deceased was born in Hachenbach, on the Rhine, Germany, 1829. He came to this country in 1851, and three years later came to Fort Wayne, where he has since lived. For many years he conducted a blacksmith shop on West Main street. He leaves besides his wife four daughters, viz: Mrs. William Hahn, Mrs. Martin, Steinberger, Mrs. David Zimmerman and Mrs. Mary Geistdoefer, all living in this city. He has three brothers, John, of Wells street, this city; William, who is visiting in Germany, and Joseph, of Cincinnati, and one sister, Mrs. Parr, of this city. He was one of the well known members of the Saengerbund, and had many friends and acquaintances in Allen county. He was a member of St. Mary's church, and the funeral will be Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the residence and 9:30 from the church.

DARKER

At her home, on West Butler street, Saturday afternoon, occurred the death of Mrs. Martha H. Darker, from an extended illness, of stomach trouble. She was born September 25, 1832, at Dayton, Ohio. She came to this city at the age of eighteen, and had resided here ever since, a period of forty-five years. Her husband, William Darker, was one of the pioneer engineers on the Wabash road, and met his death at Toledo by the explosion of a locomotive boiler twenty-five years ago. Deceased was the mother of three children, of whom only one survives, George H., of the Bass offices. Besides this son, Mrs. Darker leaves a brother, John Clark, of Ithaca, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. James Humphrey, of this city. Mrs. Darker had long been an invalid, though the nature of her malady was not such as to confine her to the house at all times. She was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, from the house, at 4 o'clock, Rev. Davies officiating.

KAHM.

The thirteen-day-old child of Fred Kahm died yesterday, in Washington township. The funeral was held privately on account of the illness of the mother.

NEW YORK FIRE.

A Steamer Burned to the Water's Edge.

LEWISTON, N. Y., July 15.—A fire occurred here this morning on the steamer Cibola, which was totally destroyed, and in which one man is supposed to have burned to death. Several buildings were also consumed. When the fire threatened the destruction of the town the Cibola was cut loose from the dock and was allowed to drift down the river until she burned to the water's edge. The dock and American hotel barns, all owned by H. G. Cornell, were also destroyed and the flames damaged the plant of the new George Electric company. The loss outside of the steamer is probably not more than $20,000. The steamer was valued at $200,000. She was one of four boats that plied on Lake Ontario, between this port and Toronto, forming a link in the route used by the Canadian Pacific and New York Central. The Cibola was built on the Clyde and was modeled after the fastest English channel steamers. The missing man is supposed to be the engineer, name not yet ascertained.

WAR THREATENED.

Peru and Bolivia Snarling at Each Other.

LIMA, July 15.—The relations of Peru with Bolivia are strained. It was rumored that the minister of Bolivia to Peru is about to retire. The governor of Peru will send 2,000 men to the Bolivian frontier.

EAST SIDE FRACAS.

Dwenger Avenue Furnishes the Police a Small Sensation.

Officer Dixon Chases Charley Pettit and William Mahl and Fires a Revolver Over Their Heads.

There was a lively scrap in the eastern part of the city last evening between 8 and 9 o'clock. It appears that two young men, Charles Pettit, a teamster, and William Mahl, his companion, early in the evening got into an altercation with Mrs. Wm. Farhnen, a neighbor. All the parties interested live on Dwenger avenue, and it is charged by Mrs. Farhnen that the two young men had induced her two small children to fight. When she remonstrated they entered the house and one of them struck her a fearful blow over the eye, severely injuring her. Mr. Farhnen at once came down town to notify the police, and on his way back alone, when just north of the street car barn, he was set upon by the two young men, who were lying in wait for him. Mr. Farhnen was roughly handled, but ran back on Washington street, where he notified Officer Dixon of the assault. The policeman at once started after the two sluggers, but they ran east, giving the officer a hard chase. Dixon is a well known sprinter and his ability in this direction came into good play. The boys were chased for a half mile or so and Dixon, in order to scare them, fired a few shots over their heads. He finally outwinded them and sent the prisoners to the station house. Before Justice Huser, acting mayor, both prisoners this morning plead guilty and were fined $1 and costs each. A friend stayed the docket for Pettit but Mahl went to jail.

TWO VAGS.

Yesterday morning, at the east yards, Special Officer Tuchshober arrested Charles Walters and Albert Newman, two young vags. They will be tried this afternoon.

PLAIN DRUNK.

Officer Aikens' prisoner was Fred Legowish, a plain drunk, who paid his fine and did not appear at court.

MORE TO FOLLOW.

The dismissal of night patrolman Vachon, for irregularities while on duty, will, in all likelihood, be followed by other policemen being dismissed from the service. Charges have been lodged against two men and possibly more.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Former Allen County Man Suicides in Kansas.

Monroe Bair, Son of Isaac Bair, of Aboite Township, Kills Himself—No Cause Known.

Saturday afternoon Isaac Bair, a well-to do and prominent Aboite township farmer, received a dispatch from Lane county, Kansas, that his son, Monroe, had suicided and that the remains would arrive in this city Sunday noon. Mr. Bair was greatly shocked and at once notified the other members of the family, two of whom reside in this city and the remainder in the country. The father of the deceased did not know what had caused the son to commit the rash deed. Monroe went to Kansas twelve years ago to farm. He took with him $2,300 and purchased a fine tract of 340 acres of land. He has been quite successful recently selling 700 head of stock from his farm and was thought to have been making money. Monroe was born in Stark county, Ohio, and was thirty-six years of age.

The remains were expected yesterday from the west, but have not yet arrived.

FOOLING THE SUN.

Photography Now No Longer Entirely Dependent Upon Old Sol.

Saturday evening a party of Fort Wayne newspaper men were invited to the photograph gallery of Miner & Dexter, 44 Calhoun street, to witness the first successful attempt to take photographs after night by means of incandescent electric light. The electrical part of the exhibition was under the supervision of Edmunds & Law, the electricians. For a year past Mr. Miner and Mr. Law have been experimenting and they have finally "struck it." Forty incandescent bulbs are arranged in an arched wooden frame and the light thrown upon the subject through a thin gauze, so prepared as to give a light almost exactly like that of the sun. The newspaper men were caught in the camera and in each instance the success was pronounced. An expert cannot tell the difference between a picture taken after night by this process from one taken in the day time.

After the exhibition was over the scribes sat down to a dainty banquet prepared by Caterer Seidel. The evening was a most pleasant one for the guests, all of whom were greatly interested in the invention.

NEW MONEY ORDER BLANKS.

Are in the Form of a Bank Draft and of a Sea Green Color.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Requisitions for money order blanks received at the postoffice department will be filled from this time on with the new blanks designed some time ago. It will not be many weeks before the public will become well acquainted with the new design, and it is safe to say that it will in all probability prove a popular change. The new blanks are in the form of a bank draft. The text is lithographed and the ink used is a sea green shade. The effect is artistic and pleasing, and altogether the form and general appearance of the new blank is such as to make the recipient feel more than ever as if he had a good thing. The old scheme of notched numerals at the left end of the blank is retained, as it has proved a great convenience in business and a safeguard against fraud. The dollars and cents are also printed on the reverse side, so that with a nice register in the press work both sides of the bit of paper will show the precise amount of the order.

SAM. KUNTZ DROWNED.

Sad Accident Occurs at Blue Lake Sunday Evening.

Thought to Have Been Sun Struck While Standing in His Boat Fishing—Body Recovered.

Samuel Kuntz, agent for the Toledo Brewing company, and residing with his wife and two children at No. 550 South Calhoun street, was drowned in Blue lake, about 5 o'clock last evening.

Kuntz was one of a party of six Fort Wayne men who yesterday morning went over to Blue lake to fish, riding in a delivery wagon owned by the deceased. In the party was John Minnich, the barber; Robert Cran, foreman at the Bass foundry; Xavier Hammerle, a saloonkeeper on West Main street; Joseph Schnee, a South Calhoun street saloonkeeper, and Erb Kay, who worked for Kuntz.

The party arrived at the lake early in the morning and fished in boats until noon. They had a case of beer with them but drank only nine bottles. At noon when the lunch was eaten Kuntz complained of feeling ill to Mr. Schnee, and declined an invitation to drink, saying that beer did not agree with him that day.

In the afternoon all the party went out in boats to fish excepting Kay, who stayed on the shore to look after the horses. Schnee and Hammerle anchored their skiff in the east end of the lake and Minnich and Cran, in one boat, and Kuntz, alone, in another, went about three quarters of a mile west, where they anchored about fifty feet from shore and began fishing. The boat occupied by Minnich and Cran was located about fifteen feet from that in which Kuntz was seated.

About 5 o'clock Kuntz was observed to be landing a large sized fish. It was quite gamey and he stood up in the boat in order to better handle the rod. After handling the fish for about ten minutes the occupants of the other boat noticed that the fish had unhooked itself. At the same moment Kuntz, who was still standing, was seen to topple over and fall sideways from the boat, headfirst into the water. He never came up. At this point the water was about twelve feet deep and the grass and weeds came to within a few feet of the surface. Minnich and Cran at once rowed up to the spot where the man went down, but saw no traces of him. They then rowed to the boat house, where hooks were procured, and, after an hour's search, the body was recovered in exactly the same spot in which the man had gone down.

The body was bent and rigid and the arms drawn downward. It is the general supposition that Kuntz was either sun struck or taken with a fainting spell, which caused him to fall into the water. Some weeks ago he had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs and yesterday when he went to the lake was not at all well. Members of the party think he was dead when he struck the water, as he made no effort to save himself, but sank like a stone.

Kuntz was an excellent swimmer and has been known to swim a mile. He was twenty-nine years old and leaves, besides a wife and two small children, a widowed mother, a brother, Philip, of Chicago, and two sisters.

The body was taken to the boat house at Tom McGuire's and the coroner of Whitley county notified.

The remains have not yet arrived from Churubusco.

A BIG COMPANY

To Be Organized Here With $100,000 Capital.

They Will Manufacture Apparatus for Supplying Suburban Residences With Water—H. H. Barcus.

Tomorrow, papers will be filed with the county recorder organizing a big company, having capital to the extent of $100,000. The new concern will erect a factory and begin the manufacture of apparatus for supplying private residences with water; or, in other words, waterworks on a small scale for private homes in the country or suburban residents too far from the city water supply to be accessible to the city's pipes. A large number of men will be employed. Mr. Charles Pape is one of the leading promoters in the enterprise.

BACK TO HIS OLD STAND.

Today H. H. Barcus, the well-known confectioner, purchased for $2,000 the stock of goods formerly owned by H. H. Moyers, at 95 Calhoun street. This is the old stand where Mr. Barcus sold out two years ago to move further south on Calhoun street. He will, for the time, continue the store on the corner of Brackenridge street as a branch establishment.

Our Common Schools.

A prominent feature in a parade given at Boston last Friday, as mentioned in the telegraph columns of The Sentinel, was the Little Red schoolhouse. The free, the common, the public school, which is one of the distinguishing features of the United States as a country, is altogether too great an institution to belong to anything less than the country, and the people of this great nation will always foster, protect and advance it because it has been the means of educating the masses and placing America in the front as a nation in which general education is the distinguishing feature of our people.

The common school is one of several good ideas which took root very early in the history of our country. It was brought here from several countries which furnished settlers to the new world. It began on our soil with the beginnings of civil society, and like most good, sensible, practical ideas, it has "grown up with the country." The first clear outlines of the common school as we know it were seen in New England, but the great Middle states adopted it and as the "star of empire" took its way westward to the Pacific the common school "went along." The great western states each as they entered the union were presented by the general government with a magnificent landed endowment for the common schools, a rule that prevails to this day in regard to admitted states.

The common school has been a great success. For a hundred years and more it has known nothing but triumph. It "fits" our country, its government, its institutions, its laws as the viewless air fits the round earth. It is, like the government and the people, republican; it is an exposition of the doctrine of human equality; the children of rich and poor stand alike; the bell rings in the morning and school "takes up," and until the evening when the children go home they have lived in a little miniature United States of America.

Under the circumstances it will be seen that the common school does not belong to any church, or sect, or political party, nor society, nor "lodge." It belongs to the whole people of the United States, who maintain it and who will keep it going forever and over. Practically there is nobody in this country against the common school. The native American looks to the common school as the place where he will get his education as his father and mother before him did theirs, and as his children will after him.

The common school has the seat of its supremacy, not in laws and enactments and customs only, but in millions of human hearts. The school house at the cross-roads, on the hill or by the stream, always humble and unobtrusive, considering the part it plays, the work it does in the world, is looked back to by millions of men and women with feelings for which any words form inadequate expression. Beneath that lowly roof was found that priceless gift, an education, when there was no other door open. There were found the beginnings of wisdom; the spring of ambition; perchance the dawn of love, the very first inspirations of life. In the minds of a countless number as they look back to it the humble walls of the school house rise and spread and stretch away into those of a mighty temple. That is what the common school is to Americans, native and adopted, and they will see that it remains just where it is, the pride and hope of the country, everybody's school, the school for the masses, the rich and poor alike.

Elections in Thirteen States.

Though this is supposed to be an "off year," politically, there will be elections in thirteen states, namely: Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Mississippi and Massachusetts. The Connecticut election for town officers and to pass upon the question of redistricting the state senate will be held October 7, and regular state elections will be held four weeks later—November 5—in the twelve other states named.

In Maryland a governor and an attorney general will be elected to serve four years, a comptroller to serve two years, all the members of the lower house of the general assembly, and fourteen senators. A state's attorney and sheriff will be elected in each county. A United States senator to succeed Senator Gibson will be chosen in Maryland next winter.

In Virginia all the members of the house of delegates and twenty (or one-half) of the state senate will be elected. The senators chosen this year will participate in the election of a successor to Senator Daniel.

Pennsylvania will choose a state treasurer for a term of three years and seven judges of the supreme court for ten years.

New Jersey will elect a governor for a term of three years, seven state senators for the same term, and an entire assembly of sixty members.

New York's state ticket will contain a secretary of state, comptroller, treasurer, attorney general and a state engineer for terms of three years each, a judge of the court of appeals for a term of fourteen years, twelve judges of the supreme court for terms of fourteen years and fifty senators to serve three years and 150 assemblymen to serve one year each. The senators chosen in November will participate in electing a successor to Senator Hill.

In Ohio there will be elected a governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer and attorney general to serve two years, an auditor to serve four years, a judge of the supreme court to serve five years and a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Brice.

A full state ticket to serve for four years will be voted for in Kentucky, as well as a legislature that will elect a successor to Senator Blackburn.

The Kansas people will vote for a chief justice of the supreme court to serve one year.

The voters of Iowa will select a full state ticket to serve two years and a legislature that will elect Senator Allison's successor.

A justice of the supreme court to serve six years and two regents of the state university will be chosen in Nebraska.

A full state ticket to serve four years, all the officers in the various counties and a legislature that will elect the successor to Senator George will be chosen in Mississippi.

A full state ticket to serve one year will be voted for in Massachusetts.

A BIG BLAZE.

The Draker & Co. Saw Mill, North of the City, Burns.

The Loss Said to be About $1,000—A Number of Minor Casualties in and About the City.

The saw mill plant situated about 200 yards northwest of the city pumping station and along the Lake Shore tracks was totally destroyed by fire last Saturday evening. The mill was the property of Messrs. John Draker and H. M. McCracken and consisted of a substantial frame structure, a boiler and engine and other machinery usually found in a well equipped circular saw mill. The whole was estimated at $1,000 and with the exception of the boiler, is a total wreck. There was no insurance on building or machinery. Gus Franke and George Ibs, of the pumping station, were the first to see the fire and they turned in the alarm. Owing to the dry weather and the inflammable condition of the mill building, the fire spread so rapidly that the entire structure was completely enveloped in flames when the department reached the scene, and their efforts to save the building were fruitless. The firemen worked bravely, however, and confined the fire to very narrow limits and the valuable lumber piles to the north and east of the burning building were not burned in the least. Mr. Draker is the owner of another mill west of the city, and he will transfer the logs which are now in the yards at the burned mill and saw them into lumber. The mill will probably be rebuilt.

LEG BROKEN.

Yesterday afternoon, while Amil Schoegen, of No. 393 East Washington street, was watching the baloon ascension at Centlivre park, he accidentally slipped and fell on his left leg, causing a serious fracture. The injured man is quite advanced in years, but Dr. Duemling thinks the fracture will soon heal.

CUT HER FOREHEAD.

A little girl named Aurentz, living at the corner of Lafayette street and Creighton avenue, fell this morning while playing about the sidewalk and cut a deep gash in her forehead. Dr. J. E. Miller attended.

A VICIOUS DOG

Edward J. Klingman, of 373 Lafayette street, was badly chewed about the leg by a vicious dog, near his home. Dr. Miller sewed up the wound and cauterized it. The dog will be shot.

The ten year-old son of Granville Powell, of No. 305 West Main street, fell from a horse yesterday and had his right arm broken in two places by the horse stepping upon it. Dr. Geo. C. Stemen attended.

MOVE AGAINST MR. QUAY.

His Opponents Make a Proposition That He Shall Retire.

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—An important move in the fight against Senator Quay in Pennsylvania developed today. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Waters came out with a proposition to have Quay retire from the contest for chairman of the state committee, provided the present chairman, B. F. Gilkeson, will do so. Then a third man, probably Waters himself, would be chosen. Should this plan work it would be a great defeat for Quay, as he is the aggressor in this contest. The anti-Quay forces are not so particular whether Gilkeson or some neutral man is chairman, but they won't have Quay. The senator must know that he is badly beaten and could not be elected at the convention on August 23, else his close friends would not come out now for a compromise. If Quay is defeated for chairman it will break forever his leadership in this state, which he has held for nearly twenty years. It will also mean the sure retirement, a year hence, of United States Senator Cameron, who is a free silver populist.

STABBED BY A TRAMP.

Vagabond in Pennsylvania Attempts to Kill His Benefactor.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 15.—Charles C. Keetley, a railroad man, is at the hospital with four knife wounds in his breast and back. Keetley received them from a man whose life he saved. Early yesterday morning Keetley found a stranger asleep on the bumpers of a freight train at Thompson station on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad. The train had stopped for an obstruction. The slightest jar would have thrown the stranger under the wheels. With difficulty Keetley pulled the man off into the ditch beside the track. A few minutes later the stranger, who resented Keetley's merciful act, stole behind his benefactor and three times plunged a knife into his back and once in his breast. He left Keetley for dead. Any one of the four wounds may prove fatal. Keetley's assailant is thought to be a tramp.

There was a large crowd at Lake Everett yesterday, fully 200 persons being on the grounds. There was a misunderstanding as to the bath house being opened as it was not yet up. This morning eight carpenters were sent over and will begin at once to build a large bathing house, which will be ready next Sunday. A new set of sheds, arranged in the form of a square will also be built for the accommodation of horses.

Ex-Congressman Bryan, of Nebraska, will speak in this city on the silver question on Wednesday evening.

SHERMAN NOT A CANDIDATE.

Senator Says He is Too Old to Take the Presidency.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, July 15.—Senator John Sherman was seen at his residence and his views asked on presidential politics. He said he was not a candidate, and added: "If all the people of the United States should join together and offer it to me I would not accept the position. I am too old. No man of seventy-two has the right to undertake the work and responsibility which come to the chief executive of the United States. It is a position of wear and tear and it should have a younger man."

Passengers Land.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Ward line steamer City of Washington arrived this morning from Tampico and Havana bringing sixty-four cabin passengers. Owing to lack of certificates, thirty-eight of these passengers including eighteen Chinamen and nine shipwrecked seamen of the bark Thomas Brooks were transferred to Hoffman Island until tomorrow afternoon when they will be allowed to proceed to the city. The remaining twenty-six passengers being provided with certificates from Dr. Burgess, at Havana, were allowed to proceed with the steamer to her dock.

Secretary Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15.—Secretary Carlisle and his son, Logan, who have just returned from London, where he assisted in the completion and delivery to the Rothschilds of $13,000,000 of the recent bond issue, reached Washington last night and were at their desks in the treasury department today. The secretary has spent the last two weeks as the guest of Secretary Hamlin at Marion, Mass.

Took His Own Life.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Chas. A. Kimball, a broker, sixty one years old, committed suicide in his room in the hotel Empire today by turning on the gas.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Berry street M. E. church have arranged to send a box to the destitute people in Indian Territory. Any one having clothing or anything to contribute please send it to the church tomorrow afternoon.

OUR SHIPBUILDING.

An Increase Over 1894 of Eleven Thousand Tons in Steam and Sailing Vessels.

The bureau of navigation has received preliminary returns showing that 692 steam and sailing vessels of 132,710 gross tons were built and documented in the United States during the last fiscal year, compared with 770 steam and sailing vessels of 121,647 tons during 1894, an increase of 11,000 tons.

Final and revised returns will somewhat increase the figures by the addition of barges, etc. Steam vessels numbered 280, of 76,728 gross tons; sailing vessels, 390, of 56,990 tons, a decrease of 8,000 tons steam, an increase of 19,000 tons sail compared with 1894.

Construction on the Atlantic and gulf coasts comprised 442 vessels of 70,590 tons, compared with 562 vessels of 63,478 tons for 1894. Construction on the great lakes comprised 93 vessels of 38,010 tons compared with 59 vessels of 40,872 tons. Among notable additions of the year to the merchant fleet are the steamers St. Louis, Northland and Newport News.

Steel construction comprised 55 vessels of 47,000 tons compared with 35 vessels of 50,730 tons in 1894.

The number of American vessels thus far officially reported as lost during the year comprised 88 steam vessels and 276 sailing vessels, barges, etc.

Among the notable American marine disasters of the year are the recent foundering of the steamship Colima; the loss of the steamship Keweenaw, reported missing with 31 lives on the Pacific; the stranding of the steamships Cienfuegos and Ozama, and the loss of the steamship Chicora on Lake Michigan.

AS TO AN AFTERMATH

REV. JOSIAH ADAMS BELIEVES ANIMALS HAVE SOUL LIFE.

He Has Founded a School of Biophilism. John Burroughs and Eugene Field Interested—The Objects and Work of the Society.

Biophilism is the name given to a new study or cult, which has for its chief object the study of animal psychology. The founder of the new cult is the Rev. Charles Josiah Adams, rector of the Church of the Holy Spirit at Rondout, and he has associated with him an executive committee, consisting of Eugene Field, the poet; John Burroughs, the naturalist and essayist; Eugene Glass, editor of The Dog Fancier, and Henry Abbey of Kingston, the writer.

According to Mr. Adams' definition, his word biophilism comes from the Greek word bios, life, and philein, to love, and it means the love of life—life in all of its forms—from the highest to the lowest. The biophilist is the one who gives every creature full credit for what there is in it—who would save the meanest creature pain and make it happy—who would mete out to all creatures immortality if he could—who, consequently, hopes for the immortality of the sentient universe.

The objects of the bureau of biophilism are set forth thus in its circular:

First.—To collect evidences that the lower animals may possess at least a showing of the same faculties that man possesses.
Second.—To circulate as widely as possible such evidences.
Third.—To awaken in the minds of as many people as can be reached the questions:
May not the lower animals be immortal?
May not the entire sentient universe be immortal?
What argument goes to prove man's immortality which does not go to prove the immortality of other sentient beings?
Fourth.—In the hope that the higher animal through such considerations may become somewhat more kindly in his treatment of the lower animal.
The bureau will attempt the attainment of these objects:
First.—Through observation and research.
Second.—Through the correspondence of its members and patrons.
Third.—Through publications.
Fourth.—Through lectures and symposiums.

In the matter of belief in the mental and moral attributes in the lower animals the other members of the executive committee do not go as far as Mr. Adams. They are, however, in sympathy with him in his idea of studying animals and his belief that, as understanding of household beasts becomes more general, cruelty, whether intentional or thoughtless, toward them will decrease. It is on this broad basis that the bureau will proceed with its work. Primarily the effort will be to collect from various sources evidence of reasoning power in animals, and from time to time this evidence will be published and circulated. Mr. Adams has published one book on the subject which has had a large circulation. It is called "Where Is My Dog?" or "discusses broadly the question of the immortality of other animals than man. It was this book that attracted Eugene Field's attention, and he wrote to Mr. Adams as follows:

To the Rev. C. J. Adams:
Sir—I have read with tender interest your book entitled, "Where Is My Dog?" and I want to ask you whether you ever found the fox terrier you lost just before you wrote that book? I have a fox terrier, Jessie, and I have spent a great deal of money in "rewards" for her, for she has been "lost" a good many times. She has a soul. I am sending you herewith a little tale I recently printed in The News-Record. It may please you. I hope so. I really feel under deep obligations to you for your true, forceful words in behalf of man's best friend—the dog. Sincerely yours,
EUGENE FIELD.

Later, when the bureau of biophilism was formed, Mr. Field gladly consented to act on the executive committee. Although Mr. Adams is a firm believer in the theory that animals have souls, he does not hold that belief to be a part of biophilism.

"What we want to do," he said to a reporter who called on him, "is to establish a general cult having for its object interest in animals. I am in hearty sympathy with the work of the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They do a great and beneficent work. There are many men whom you must reach by the policeman's club. This is the work of that society. It is our intent to supplement that work by reaching by the advancement of knowledge many people who are susceptible to that kind of influence. The great mass of people are unkind toward animals because they have no realization that they are dealing with sentient beings.

"I myself believe that the lower animals possess to some degree every faculty that man possesses, and that the germs of these faculties are coexistent with the life germ. The higher we get the greater is the development until we finally come to man, the highest animal. To bring the highest animal into sympathy with the lower animals is the work before us."

Since Mr. Adams first owned a dog—and he has since owned many—he has been interested in animal psychology and has made a particular study of dogs. He has been very unfortunate in his dogs, having lost a number through stealing and poisoning. The dog attracts Mr. Adams not because he believes that dogs are the most intelligent animals, but because they are the most faithful and affectionate.

"A monkey is probably as intelligent as any other animal, if not more so," said Mr. Adams, "but the trouble with a monkey as a pet is that he is too monkeyish. His instinct is for mischief and sometimes for malevolence. Cats are very intelligent, too, but they care only for localities, not for persons, and they are faithful only to their own love of ease. Now, a dog will stick to you through thick and thin, the truest, stanchest, most changeless friend a man can have. That's why I love dogs."—New York Sun.

Hill Makes a Guess.

Senator Hill is said to have made a guess concerning the next Republican presidential nomination. He looks upon Allison as the probable man, for the reason that the Iowa man is not an extremist on either the tariff or silver questions, is conservative on all other matters of public import and comes from a section which the Republicans must carry in order to win the presidency.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Prominent Railroader's Remarks.

Lyon Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.:

DEAR SIRS—I wish to speak a kind word for LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. During an attack of la grippe, from which I suffered greatly with stomach trouble, loss of appetite and general bad feelings, I was induced by a friend, who said it would remove all these troubles, to try your remedy. I admit I did not have much faith in them, but tried a box, and one box made me feel like a new man and did all my friend claimed they would. I believe them to be a long felt want in the medicine line.

Yours very truly,
J. W. CASKEY,
Conductor Vandalia Line.

A Great Responsibility.

The office boy was whistling "Sweet Marie" in a high key and with much energy.

"Did it ever occur to you," asked the boss, "what a responsibility you were assuming when you whistled that way?"

"Me?" said the boy.

"Certainly. Here you go to whistling that infernal tune. Some one hears it and unconsciously joins in. Two or three more hear him and they do likewise, and the thing spreads till the whole town from one end to the other is Sweet Marieing for dear life. You hadn't thought of that, had you?"

The office boy did not answer, but it was plain that the talk had made an impression on his mind, for ten minutes later he was heard to tell the elevator boy that "de ole man was gittin nutty, and that ain't no lie, neither!"—Indianapolis Journal.

A RAILROAD MAP.

State Tax Board Having One Made.

A Novel Suit, Interesting Scalpers, Railway Companies and the Public—Local Gossip.

The state tax board is preparing an official railroad map of the state for public use. It has all the roads marked in colored lines which are easily traced, and the railroads can be followed and located without trouble. A different color marks each road and the systems are plainly seen at a glance. Indiana has never had an official railroad map of this kind, and in this respect it is behind other states. George H. Bingham, of the auditor's office, is preparing the draft for the map.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

At a business meeting of the German Lutheran Trinity congregation yesterday, bids were opened for the erection of two buildings, one a parsonage and the other a house for the principal of the school, to be located on the church property at the corner of St. Mary's avenue and Hoffman streets. Franke & Rodenbeck were the lowest bidders and were awarded the contract. Their bid was $2,888 for both buildings.

AUTOMATIC COUPLERS.

An exchange states that besides the extra cost of the automatic couplers and of keeping them in repair, there is a material difference in the power required to pull a train of the old style link and pin coupler and those of a later invention. A link and pin coupler gives about a six-inch slack to a car. In moving a long train this gives an engine quite a start, and has helped more than one engine up a steep grade with a heavy train. Automatic couplers give a train the little slack which is in the box, and with some rigging, there is no slack even there. This makes it possible for an engine to move a train only on a dead pull. On roads where automatic couplers are used extensively the number of automatic couplers in a train is taken into consideration in deciding how many cars to put in it.

SUIT TO RECOVER TICKET MONEY.

Fort Wayne patrons of ticket brokers will be greatly interested in a suit brought by Arthur J. Morton, a Findlay ticket broker, who has commenced suit to determine whether a railroad company can legally confiscate a mileage ticket without refunding the money it represents. He purchased a 1,000 mile ticket on the Lake Erie and Western railroad for $20, which was taken up by the conductor after 288 miles had been used, on the ground that he was not the party to whom it was issued. Mr. Morton sues the company for $14.23, the value of the remaining mileage, and claims the ticket was issued to him although in a fictitious name. The outcome is being awaited with interest.

BRIEF MENTION.

John Burett is again working in the foundry department of the electric works.

John Drubot, moulder at the Bass works, will go to Blue lake tomorrow to camp out for a week.

This week the Wabash steam shovel plow will commence operations in the gravel pit west of Peru.

The first Niagara Falls excursion of the year will be run from Cincinnati, Ohio, July 18, over the Erie.

Mrs. Chartier and son, Ed., of Valparaiso, are visiting Engineer and Mrs Henry Blair, of East Howell street.

John McVey, night foreman at the Nickel Plate yards, has been promoted to the position of conductor on the road.

The Pennsylvania will spend $50,000 in fitting up as a pleasure resort a grove near Thompson station, on the Monongahela river.

William Palmer, who was suffering last week with malarial fever, was able to resume work in the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

The heirs of Frederick Schultz, a Panhandle engineer who was killed at Logansport June 9, have brought suit for $10,000 against the company.

The Huntington Democrat says: "Miss Lena Foster, of the superintendent's office, is entertaining as her guest Miss Stella Noll, of Fort Wayne."

Grant Smith, who was night yardmaster of the Wabash at Tilton for some time, has been transferred to Peru, where he will work in the yards also.

The child of Nelson Crawford, of the electric works, is now past the danger point and is expected to rapidly improve. The little one has been ill a month.

A freight blockade has taken place at Pittsburg and the lines entering that city have given notice that perishable freight will not be received for that point for a few days.

The Peru Chronicle says: "John Knepper, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of William Hacker last night while on his way home from Springfield, Ill., where he has been attending college."

Chester Durnell, Pittsburg engineer, is sick and off duty.

W. A. Doolin, of the electric works, is sick and off duty.

Casper Linnecooley, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is sick.

Machinist Louis R. Bookwalter, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

Charles Porter, of the Wabash freight office, spent Sunday with his parents in Peru.

W. S. Smith has been transferred from the cinder pit to the boiler department of the Wabash shops.

C. S. Knight, of the electric works, arrived home last night. He had been west on business for the company.

E. A. Houghton, roadmaster of the Wabash, was here today on business for the company. He resides in Defiance.

E. J. Hawthorne came home last evening, after a sojourn of some days in the east in the interest of the electric works.

William Zutermeister, of the electric works, has gone to Richmond, Ind., to attend the funeral of one of the children of his brother.

T. Z. Babcock, engineer at the electric works, has returned from Pierceton, where he spent a few days with relatives and friends.

Charles Pape, of the Fleming Manufacturing company, has returned from Niagara Falls, where he spent two or three days very pleasantly.

Valentine Workman, of the electric works, is off duty. Saturday afternoon one of his hands was lacerated in a lathe which he was operating.

Mr. Hickock, of the electric works, came home Saturday, after being engaged several days at Barnesville, Pa., in the interest of the company.

Miss Kittie Girard, who was sick a portion of last week, resumed her duties in the electric light offices this morning. She is a stenographer.

S. Bostick, messenger in Supt. G. L. Potter's office, is enjoying his annual vacation, and Marshall Humphrey, an apprentice in the machine shop, is acting as messenger.

J. Neiber, a carpenter in the east car shops, went to Cincinnati today to attend the funeral of a relative. News of the death was conveyed to him through a telegram this morning.

J. Didier, a car builder in the east car shops, had the misfortune to crush his right hand last Saturday afternoon and is off duty. Dr. George C. Stemen dressed the wounded member.

Amos Kress, of the Standard Wheel works, who was injured last Friday, as mentioned in these columns, is not able to walk yet, though he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

This morning Engineer John Carroll left for Andrews with engines 204, 338 and 139, they having recently been repaired and repainted. The former engine was steamed up and hauled the other two.

Thomas Mills is today celebrating the eighteenth anniversary of his signing the Murphy temperance pledge. He has faithfully kept that pledge and regards it as one of the most important events in his life.

F. J. Miller has been appointed general passenger agent of the Pullman Palace Car company, vice Mr. Gray, deceased. Mr. Miller has been the assistant general passenger agent of the company for the last five years.

Calls for cars to load with wheat for Toledo and other lake points are becoming more numerous and are taken by freight men as evidence that, despite the talk of a very light crop, there will be considerable wheat to ship.

After an illness of two weeks, Fireman E. H. White resumed his duties on Wabash switch engine 267 this morning and Fireman O. A. Harmes returned to Andrews to resume his position in the through freight service.

Emanuel's congregation has secured ground for church purposes at the corner of Broadway and Scott avenue, and will soon commence the erection of a parsonage thereon. Later they will erect a church building on the same lot.

Machinist Philip J. Singleton, of 27 Baker street, is a temporary cripple. Last Saturday a heavy wrench dropped from the running boards of an engine and alighted upon Mr. Singleton's left foot, bruising the member most painfully.

Bert Byers, who manipulates the throttle of a switch engine in the Pennsylvania yards in Chicago, spent Sunday in this city with his brother-in-law, Engineer J. A. Keplinger. Mr. Byers will return to Chicago on No. 9 tonight.

William Henry Tigar, chief dispatcher of the Pennsylvania company at this point and a member of the auditing committee of the Voluntary Relief department, went to Cleveland this morning on business connected with the relief.

Conductor Ben Stonecifer, of the Muncie road, has been down at Cambridge City several days, attending the funeral of his father. The sad circumstances surrounding the elder Stonecifer's death were chronicled last week.

A lively but harmless runaway occurred on Broadway at 9 o'clock this morning, the team being the grays that draw one of the Standard Oil company's wagons. They ran from Taylor street to Creighton avenue, where they were stopped.

W. S. Lipsett, who for some years has had charge of a local freight train between Fort Wayne and Lima, is lying dangerously ill at his home in the latter place. Conductor T. Mulcahey has charge of the local during the illness of Mr. Lipsett.

Ernest W. Darnell, a clerk in the shop clerk's department of the Pennsylvania works, has returned from England, where he spent two or three months with his parents. The old people reside in Croydon, a city about twenty miles from London.

The Panhandle company will increase its yard capacity at Pittsburg by occupying with tracks a large piece of ground which has been occupied for years by coal yards. M. H. Cushing, engineer of maintenance of way has been placed in charge of the work.

The Logansport Daily Pharos says: "The Wabash is equipping all its freight cars with steps and irons on top to aid the man in climbing up, according to the new law. Quite a large number of the new irons have been sent down here from the Fort Wayne shops."

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, which laid off 15 per cent. of its employes in its operating department during the panic, has ordered a large number of the men re-employed and if business continues to improve will have its entire force at work again within thirty days.

George H. Judy writes his sons here that he is getting along nicely in his new position at Dayton, that of foreman of the blacksmith shops of the Barney & Smith company. Mrs. Judy, who has been in Altoona, Pa., for some weeks, will return here next Wednesday and soon after will remove to Dayton.

The Sunday train to Rome City is quite popular with our people and a money-maker for the Grand Rapids company. Yesterday the train pulled out of this city with its two coaches crowded to their full capacity. If the business increases, and it promises to do so, more coaches will have to be provided.

A rumor is in circulation that a syndicate for the manufacture of bicycles is to be organized. The Studebaker Brothers, of South Bend, are said to be at the head of the movement and the works will be located in that city. It is proposed to build a wheel that will answer all ordinary purposes and which can be retailed at $30.

Garrett, a small town on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad a few miles west of Auburn, on the Detroit line, is making an endeavor to have the Wabash extend a line from Ashley, on the Chicago extension, to their place and the people have asked the Chicago board of trade to assist them. The line, if built, would be about fifteen miles in length and would have to cross the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern.

Frank Kiersps, a machinist, has taken a position in the Bass works, beginning work this morning. He is a son of the well known machinist at the Wabash shops, Charles F. Kiersps, and served an apprenticeship in the Wabash shops. Three years ago Frank went east and until recently he was employed in a machine shop in Waterbury, Conn. He returns here with the intention of making this his future home.

C. W. Meek, the telegraph operator at the west Nickel Plate depot in this city, was in Kosciusko county last week spending his vacation and while there spent a few days fishing at the lakes for which that county is famous. It is well known that they are the best fishing places in this section of the state, but the stories that "Charley" tells of his catches are simply incredulous and but very few of his friends believe them. At Barbee lake, in two hours one morning, he says, he caught 230 pounds of bass, one of the fish being two feet in length. Charley is one of the finest operators on the road, but as a fisherman, his friends say, he is no good at all. With a reputation like this, his fish stories don't go.

FATAL WRECK IN OHIO.

Cincinnati Man Caught Under the Debris of Fourteen Cars.

WHITE SULPHUR, Ohio, July 15—At 11:30 yesterday a bad wreck occurred on the Big Four, resulting in the destruction of fourteen cars of whisky, feed, tobacco and candies, the loss amounting to $75,000. Dick Hurley, a molder, of Cincinnati, was killed. The cause of the accident was the burning of a journal, the car leaving the track after it had plowed the earth for a mile. A number of tramps are supposed to be under the debris. Work trains from Springfield and Delaware are removing the wreckage.

SIX O'CLOCK.

WEARY WOMEN WATCH FOR THAT BLESSED HOUR.

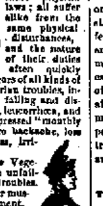

Help for our Working-Girls and Women Near at Hand.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

IN the stroke of six ends the day's work at stores, offices, factories, mills, where women are employed. But their necessary work at home, sewing, mending, etc., must be done after that time, and "their work is never done."

All women work; some for ambition, some for necessity in the household, but the great mass of women work for their daily bread. All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbances, and the nature of their duties often quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhœa, and perhaps irregular or suppressed "monthly periods," causing severe backache, loss of appetite, nervousness, irritability and weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for all these troubles. It strengthens the proper muscles, and cures displacement.

Backache, dizziness, fainting, bearing-down, disordered stomach, moodiness, dislike of friends and society—all symptoms of the one cause—will be quickly dispelled. Write Mrs. Pinkham about your trouble.

You can tell the story of your pain to a woman, and get the help that only woman can give. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Looking Up Testimony.

"Well, what kind of a breakfast did you have?" inquired a slightly shabby looking individual, taking a seat in front of the hotel and addressing a commercial traveler.

"Worst layout I ever struck on my whole route. Horrible spread to dish up to a hungry man."

"The steaks would have half soled a pair of kip boots?"

"You bet! Why, the coffee was so transparent I could see samples of the cook's hair curled up in the bottom of the cup."

"And you couldn't tell the difference between the butter and the sweet oil?"

"No, and the bread was the worst case of sour mash I ever saw in my life."

"And the baked potatoes were just warmed through and as solid as a derrick?"

"Yes, and they tried to palm off three different dishes of yesterday's cold soup for a new species of hash."

"And the roast looked like a piece of charcoal?"

"Bet your life! And the batter cakes were nothing less than raw dough."

"And the waiters were saucy and indifferent?"

"Yes; one of 'em picked up a chair and offered to hit me with it if I called for any more iced tea. I'd like to see the landlord of this ranch. I'd just like to see him as a curiosity. He must be the orneriest cuss in 14 states."

"Well, I've been thinking some of rejuvenating this establishment for quite awhile, and, being the landlord, I'm taking a quiet stroll in and out among the guests getting their views. I always like to strike a live, radical kicker, like yourself, because then I get in all the important testimony for the prosecution and know just where to begin with my reconstruction. Just stop here on your way back, and you'll find different arrangements."—Texas Siftings.

NEWS NOTES.

There is a new case of scarlet fever at No. 25 Lieth street.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doenges, of Grant street, a son.

Ed Ross, steward at the Randall, is in St. Louis on a short trip.

W. H. Wright, of Connorsville, was a guest of the Randall yesterday.

Clem Noll and Clyde Turner are enjoying a two weeks' outing at Pleasant Lake.

Martin Detzer, the Calhoun street druggist, went to Detroit, Mich., this morning.

Dr. Sturgis, who was last week so seriously ill, is very much better today and able to be up.

Don Hayden was down from Rome City over Sunday. He will return tomorrow on his wheel.

Miss Ida Fairfield, of No. 7 Belle avenue, is the guest of Mrs. Page Blackburn, at Decatur.

Complaint is made that Poundmaster Brown allows cows to run at large in Lakeside and other suburbs.

The barbers of the city will meet this evening at the City Y. M. C. A. hall for the purpose of organizing a new union.

Mrs. George E. Johnson is now comfortably domiciled in the house at No. 3 Fulton street, having recently moved there from Main street.

Charley Grimes, of Root & Co., is at South Whitley hunting and taking a much needed vacation. It is said the residents of the place positively refuse to go hunting with him on account of his erratic marksmanship.

A. Mergentheim left Saturday evening for Atlantic City to spend a few weeks with his wife and son, who are sojourning at the seaside. Mr. Mergentheim will be absent until August 1st, and will visit New York to inspect the fall millinery styles before returning.

A great many people yesterday afternoon witnessed the balloon ascension at Centlivre's park made by Lady Florence. The ascension was quite a success and the descent in the parachute was made without accident, the aeronaut landing safely north of the park.

Editor Geiger, of the Churubusco Truth, has signed Collars and Holt, the Fort Wayne ball players, to play with the 'Busco nine the entire season. They play Columbia City next Thursday and a close and exciting game is anticipated. Quite a number of the Fort Wayne people will witness the game.

A genuine surprise was the appearance of D. F. More, ex general secretary of the railroad department Y. M. C. A., at the men's meeting yesterday afternoon. The meeting was rich in reminiscence of the early days of the association. After a spirited song service in charge of Hiram A. Philley, assisted by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Benjamin Saunders, Ed. D. Eggeman, Charles J. Fry, Herchel Mauk and Alfred Trythall, Mr. More gave a most interesting address, followed by Messrs. A. H. Polhamus, E S. Philley, William Myers, A. D. Craig, Dr. Smith, J. R. Medsker, Amos Sine and Phil Titus.

On account of the death by drowning of Samuel Kuntz, who was a member of the Fort Wayne Mutual Benefit association, the entertainment and social which was to be given on Wednesday evening next by that organization, will be postponed for three weeks, or until Wednesday evening, Aug 7. The regular meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, the 17th, to take appropriate action on the deceased. The association pays a $50 death benefit. All arrangements had been made for the entertainment and many tickets sold. These will be good on the later date.

Mrs. Celia Fisher, who has been at Los Angeles, Cal., for some time, writes to friends here that her health has been greatly benefitted by the genial climate of the Pacific coast and that she is able to pursue her musical studies uninterruptedly. On the Fourth of July Los Angeles celebrated Independence day in a grand way, the city being crowded with people from the various towns and the country around. The exercises during the day at the pavillion were largely attended. Mrs. Fisher participated in the musical program and all of the Los Angeles papers were complimentary in their mention of her. The Los Angeles Express says: "Captain Cressey then introduced Mrs. Celia Fisher, who, in a little esthetic gown of white silk, the American flag in her hand, sang with charming effect, "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Fisher has a voice of peculiar sweetness and easily filled the great hall, her clear, pure notes reaching the galleries with their patriotic fervor. The audience and the band joined in the chorus and the dear old hymn thrilled all with its beauty."

Miss Luella C. Boles, who was a delegate from the Epworth League of the Wayne street M. E church to the international convention of the Epworth League, at Chattanooga, Tenn., made her report of the convention at the meeting of the league last night. It gave an account in an abbreviated form of all the most interesting and important proceedings of the convention, reviewing the principal and most interesting thoughts of the greatest speeches made and the leading events of the gathering, which was the largest religious meeting ever held in the south. Her description of the sunrise prayer meeting held on top of Lookout mountain was most graphic and gave her hearers a good idea of the scene and the religious enthusiasm characterizing it. Indeed, her report of the convention and its work gave those who attended the meeting and heard it a splendid idea of the whole convention, which was in session for four days. Miss Boles is a fluent and entertaining writer and her report showed careful preparation and evidenced the fact that she had made herself most familiar with and had listened attentively to almost the entire proceedings of the convention. The reading of her report occupied twenty-five minutes and she held her large audience interested until its close. When she finished, Miss Louise Driftmeyer, who presided at the meeting, spoke in warm terms of praise of the excellency of the report and at her suggestion the league voted Miss Boles its thanks.
